CHARTER.

To all the Exalted and Enlightened under the Canopy of Heaven, wheresoever assembled or dispersed,

The Grand Royal Arch Chapter,

in and for the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, sendeth Greeting:

BE IT KNOWN that, in pursuance of the powers vested in us by the Constitution of the General Grand Royal Arch Chapter of the United States of America, and for sundry good and sufficient reasons and causes us thereunto moving, being first fully informed of the good moral character, and reposing special trust and confidence in the masonic abilities, of the following Companions of this degree, all resident in or near the town of Boston, in the County of Suffolk, in the Commonwealth aforesaid, have constituted, and by these presents do constitute, PAUL DEAN, DANIEL

Baxter, Cheever Felch, Michael Roulstone, John Howe, Amos Clarke, Ethan Cobb, Samuel Smith, Elisha V. Glover, Nathaniel Hammond, Daniel Baxter, Jr., John Webber, Francis Wyman, Hosea Ballou, Snelling Powell, Aaron Bean, Benjamin Stevens, and Thomas Hooper, together with all and every their regular associates, companions, and successors, into a Chapter of Royal Arch Masons, by the name and stile of Saint Paul's; to take rank, date, and precedence from the tenth day of December, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and eighteen. And we do hereby authorize and empower them, the said Paul Dean, Daniel Baxter, Cheever Felch, Michael Roulstone, &c., &c., or any nine of them, from time to time, and at all times hereafter, to open and hold a Chapter of Royal Arch Masons in the said town of Boston, and to exalt at their discretion any Master Masons to the degree of Royal Arch Masons; and, for that purpose, to open and hold Lodges of Mark Masters, Past Masters, and Most Excellent Masters, agreeably to the ancient usages and customs of Royal Arch Masons; and also to make and establish any good and wholesome By-Laws and Regulations for the government of said Chapter and Lodges, so always as such By-Laws and Regulations are not contrary to the constitution of the said General Grand Royal Arch Chapter, or of this Grand Royal Arch

Chapter, and the same at pleasure to alter or repeal; and, further, to order and establish dues and penalties and fees for the admission of candidates and members as to them, or a major part of them, and their associates, shall seem meet and proper.

And we do hereby appoint our Excellent Companion Paul Dean, first High Priest, Excellent Companion Daniel Baxter, first King, and Excellent Companion Cheever Felch, first Scribe, of said Chapter.

And we do hereby enjoin upon the Companions of the said Chapter, that they, or any number of them, do not at any time hold any private meetings or assemblies for Masonic purposes, except in the presence of a Companion appointed by the Grand High Priest, Deputy Grand High Priest, Grand King, or Grand Scribe, or in the presence of either the High Priest, King, or Scribe, of the said Chapter for the time being or a Companion appointed by said Officers, or either of them. And, further, that they strictly and regularly pay, or cause to be paid, annually, to this Grand Chapter, all their lawful dues, by the hands of their High Priest, King, and Scribe, or their proxies.

And it is hereby absolutely required of the said High Priest, King, and Scribe, for the time being, that they attend regularly, either in person or by their proxies, at all regular communications of this Grand Royal Arch Chapter.

In witness whereof, we, the GRAND HIGH PRIEST, DEPUTY GRAND HIGH PRIEST, GRAND KING, and GRAND SCRIBE, have hereunto subscribed our names, and caused the SEAL of the said GRAND CHAPTER to be affixed, and the same to be attested by the GRAND SECRETARY, this twenty-fifth day of January, Anno Lucis five thousand eight hundred and nineteen.

BY-LAWS.

ARTICLE I.

THE CHAPTER.

OF WHOM COMPOSED.

SECTION 1. — St. Paul's Royal Arch Chapter shall be composed of Royal Arch Masons.

REGULAR AND SPECIAL CONVOCATIONS.

SECT. 2. — Regular Convocations shall be held on the third Tuesday of each month, at such hour as the High Priest shall direct; provided, however, that, during the summer months, the Convocations may be suspended by a vote of the Chapter. And the High Priest may call special Convocations whenever he shall deem it expedient.

ANNUAL CONVOCATIONS.

SECT. 3. — The Annual Convocation, for the choice of officers, shall be the regular Convocation in December.

ARTICLE II.

OFFICERS.

ELECTIVE OFFICERS.

SECTION. 1. — At the Annual Convocation there shall be elected, by a majority of the members present, by written or printed ballots, a High Priest, King, and Scribe, comprising the Council; Captain of the Host, Principal Sojourner, Royal Arch Captain, Treasurer, and Secretary; one member of the Board of Trustees to serve for the term of three years; and one member of the Committee on Charity to serve for the term of three years. They shall perform the duties of their offices respectively until others are elected and installed in their places. Any vacancy by death, resignation, or otherwise shall be filled in like manner, and at such time as the Chapter may decide; due notice thereof being inserted in the notifications of the Convocation at which the election is to take place.

APPOINTED OFFICERS.

SECT. 2. — The High Priest Elect of each year shall at the time of his installation, with the advice and consent of the Council, appoint all the other officers of the Chapter; viz., three Masters of the Vails, Chaplain, two Stewards, Organist, Master of the Wardrobe, Tyler, and such others as he may judge expedient for the welfare and order of the Chapter.

ARTICLE III.

DUTIES AND PREROGATIVES OF OFFICERS.

AUDITING COMMITTEE.

SECTION 1. — The Council for the time being shall constitute the Auditing Committee. They shall examine and decide the payment of all bills and demands against the Chapter, examine into the state of the invested fund in the hands of the Board of Trustees, and audit their accounts, and audit the accounts of the Treasurer, Secretary, and Committee on Charity. They shall report in writing upon all the concerns of the Chapter at the Annual Convocation.

BOARD OF TRUSTEES.

SECT. 2. — The Board of Trustees of St. Paul's Royal Arch Chapter, established in 1864, by the election of one for one year, one for two years, and one for three years, and thereafter, at the succeeding Annual Convocations, one for three years, consisting of three Companions, shall continue to have the supervision and charge of all the invested funds of the Chapter; and all investments shall be made in their joint names as Trustees of the Chapter. They shall pay all interest, dividends, profits, and income derived from said invested funds to the Treasurer, and take a receipt therefor; and, whenever the funds in the hands of the Treasurer shall exceed Five Hundred Dollars, they shall receive the said excess, receipt to him therefor, and permanently invest the same for the benefit of the Chapter. They shall invest and deposit the funds of the Chapter only in safe and profitable money-stocks and bonds, in savings banks duly established by law, or in first mortgages on good real estate of not less than double the value thereof. Their accounts and evidences of investments shall be examined and audited by the Auditing Committee.

TREASURER.

SECT. 3. — It shall be the duty of the Treasurer to receive all moneys from the Secretary, and all interest, dividends, profits, and income from the Board of Trustees, giving receipts therefor; and, whenever the funds in his hands shall exceed Five Hundred Dollars, he shall pay the said excess to the Board of Trustees. He shall pay all bills which have been approved by the Council, and all appropriations made by the Chapter. In case of the rejection of any candidate, he shall immediately return the fee deposited by said candidate. At the close of each year, and previous to the Annual Convocation of the Chapter, he shall render to the Council a just and fair account of all moneys received and paid by him during the past year, and deliver to his successor in office, or the Board of Trustees, all moneys remaining in his hands, and all other property belonging to this Chapter intrusted to his care.

SECRETARY.

SECT. 4. — It shall be the duty of the Secretary to keep a just and fair record of the proceedings of the Chapter, to receive all moneys for membership fee, quarterages, and from candidates, and pay the same to the Treasurer, taking a receipt therefor. At the close of each year, and previous to the Annual Convocation of the Chapter, he shall render to the Council an exact report of the money so received and paid; he shall issue notifications for all Convocations of the Chapter, and shall place upon each the names of all candidates for degrees and membership; and, in case a candidate for degrees is rejected, he shall send the name of the rejected applicant to the Grand Chapter. All members whose residences are known (except such as do not wish to be notified) shall have notice of the several Convocations sent to them by mail, or otherwise. He shall receive as a compensation for his services such sum as the Chapter shall from time to time decide.

COMMITTEE ON CHARITY.

SECT. 5. — The Committee on Charity, reorganized Feb. 15, 1881, by providing for the election of one for one year, one for two years, and one for there years, and, thereafter, at the succeeding Annual Convocation, one for three years, consisting of three Companions, shall consider and act upon all applications made to this Chapter for charity. The Chapter shall appropriate from time to time such sums of money as may be deemed necessary for the benefit of distressed Royal Arch Masons, their widows and orphans; and said committee shall have the control and dispensing of such sums appropriated. Their accounts shall be examined and audited by the Auditing Committee, and the result of their doings incorporated in the Annual Report.

MASTER OF THE WARDROBE.

SECT. 6. — The Master of the Wardrobe shall have intrusted to his care all the regalia and other property appertaining to the work; he shall keep the same clean, and in order, and at the time of Convocation shall be present and distribute the same to the respective officers; at the close of the Convocations he shall collect and take proper care of the same, and keep all the regalia, and other property intrusted to his care, in good repair; he shall take an inventory of all articles in his charge previous to the Annual Convocation, and present the same to the Council. He shall receive such compensation for his services as the Chapter shall from time to time decide.

DUTY OF TYLER.

SECT. 7. — The Tyler shall attend all Convocations of the Chapter, and have the hall in proper order; he shall be always subject to the direction of the Council, and, as a compensation for his services, shall receive such sum as the Chapter shall from time to time decide.

ARTICLE IV.

MEMBERSHIP.

CANDIDATES FOR MEMBERSHIP.

SECTION 1. — Every applicant for membership shall be proposed by a member of this Chapter, at a regular or special Convocation, and may be balloted for at the next Convocation, provided his name shall have been placed on the notifications for said Convocation.

FEES FOR MEMBERSHIP.

SECT. 2. — Any Companion shall be admitted to membership upon the unanimous ballot of the members present, and after paying to the Secretary Fifteen Dollars, and signing the By-Laws; if, however, he has been exalted in another Chapter, the fee shall be Twenty-five Dollars.

HONORARY MEMBERSHIP.

SECT. 3. — No Companion shall be admitted an honorary member except by a unanimous ballot, nor unless his name shall have been inserted on the notifications for the Convocation at which the ballot is to be taken; and any Companion of this Chapter who shall become an honorary member shall enjoy all the privileges of his former membership.

ARTICLE V.

CANDIDATES.

CANDIDATES FOR THE DEGREES.

SECTION 1. — Every candidate for the degrees shall be proposed by a member of the Chapter, and shall stand proposed at least fourteen days; and his name shall be inserted on the notification for the Convocation at which the ballot is taken; and he shall sign the following application, and deposit the same, and the sum of Thirty-five Dollars, with the Secretary, at the time, or within one week after the Convocation at which the proposition is made; and no proposition shall be referred to a committee for investigation until such deposit has been made: —

To the Most Excellent High Priest, King, Scribe, and Companions of St. Paul's Royal Arch Chapter.

I,....., having received the Degree of Master Mason in.....Lodge, under the jurisdiction of the Grand Lodge of .....having the good of the Craft at heart,and being desirous of obtaining further light in Masonry, do fraternally offer myself a candidate for the degrees conferred in your Chapter. Should my petition be granted, I promise a cheerful compliance with all the forms and usages of the fraternity.

My residence is.....Place of business.....Occupation .....I have.....before applied for said degrees in..... Royal Arch Chapter.

The candidate will state the entire facts. If he has never before applied, he shall insert the words never and any, respectively, in the blank spaces above. If he has before applied, he shall state the number of times and the name of the Chapter or Chapters, respectively, in the blank spaces.

Dated at..... 188 .

(Signed).....

We, the subscribers, hereby certify that we are acquainted with.....named in the above application, and believe him to be of regular and upright conduct, fair fame, sober life, and good moral character. We do, therefore, recommend him as a Master Mason, worthy and well qualified to be exalted to the Sublime Degree of Royal Arch Mason.

Dated at.....188 .

(Signed).....

BALLOT FOR DEGREES MUST BE UNANIMOUS.

SECT. 2. — No candidate shall receive the degrees in this Chapter, except by a unanimous vote of the members present when the ballot is taken.

In case of rejection, he may have the benefit of a second, or even a third ballot, but no more; and all such ballots shall be at the same Convocation.

FEES FOR PART OF THE DEGREES.

SECT. 3. — A brother having received a part of the Chapter degrees in some other Chapter, and being desirous of receiving the remainder in this, may receive them by a unanimous vote, and paying as follows: viz., for the Mark degree, Ten Dollars; for the Most Excellent, Ten Dollars; and for the Royal Arch degree, Fifteen Dollars.

SECT. 4. — Any member of this Chapter who shall disclose to other than a Royal Arch Mason any acts of the Chapter, as regards the appointments of committees upon applications for the degrees or membership, or the reports of such committees, or any matters pertaining to the rejection of such applicants, shall, upon complaint of the same being made, and after investigation by a committee, if found guilty of the offence, be dishonorably discharged from membership in the Chapter. Any visiting Companion found guilty of like offence shall be forever debarred from visiting this Chapter.

This By-Law shall be read at the conclusion of all ballotings for degrees or membership in the Chapter.

CANDIDATES ENTITLED TO DIPLOMA.

SECT. 5. — Every Companion who may be exalted in this Chapter shall be entitled to a diploma.

ARTICLE VI.

GENERAL REGULATIONS.

DISPOSITION OF FUNDS.

SECTION 1. — All moneys and other property belonging to this Chapter shall be appropriated only to pay the expenses of the Chapter, and for the relief of distressed Companions, their widows and orphans. If at any time it is proposed to expend any part of the funds which may have been permanently invested, such expenditure shall not be authorized by the Auditing Committee unless notice of the same shall have been given to the Chapter and its approval obtained by a two-thirds vote of the Companions present at the time said action is taken.

FUNERAL OF A COMPANION.

SECT. 2. — On the decease of a Companion of this Chapter, the High Priest shall cause such mark of respect to be paid to his memory as he shall judge expedient, or as shall be ordered by the Chapter.

PAST HIGH PRIEST'S JEWEL.

SECT. 3. — Each High Priest, on retiring from office, shall receive from the Chapter a Past High Priest's Jewel, to cost not exceeding one hundred dollars in gold, and no other testimonial, at the expense of the Chapter.

BY-LAWS, HOW ALTERED.

SECT. 4. — These By-Laws shall not be altered, amended, or repealed, unless a proposition therefor has been made in writing, and read in open Chapter, specifying the section to be altered; nor until such proposition has been considered by a committee appointed for that purpose, and the fact inserted on the notification for the Convocation at which the subject is to be acted upon; nor even then unless two thirds of the members present shall vote in the affirmative.

REPEAL OF ALL OTHER BY-LAWS.

SECT. 5. — All other By-Laws heretofore established for the government of the Chapter are hereby repealed.

EXTRACTS FROM THE RECORDS.

M. E. Companion John Howe, the first Secretary of St. Paul's R. A. Chapter, thus commences his Records: —

"It is an obligation due to posterity, on the founders of states, communities, and public institutions, faithfully to delineate their rise and progress. The actors in those events are bound to record with precision for the direction and benefit of those who succeed them every occurrence, however trivial, connected with the first existence of such establishments, and on which their future usefulness, prosperity, and duration may depend. Negligence in this respect has often led to unpleasant disquisitions and violent contentions, and is the more inexcusable as it leaves a deficiency which the researches of consecutive ages can never supply." He continues in this strain at some length as an "apology for the scrupulous minuteness which may characterize its early records." Continuing, he says: "The necessity of a new Chapter had long been felt and seriously considered previous to any measures being taken for its establishment. The idea had more than once been digested and abandoned; but at length, the limited number of members in St. Andrew's R. A. Chapter being nearly completed, the great and constantly increasing list of Companions who neither belonged nor could have a convenient opportunity of belonging to any regular society, and the frequent application of candidates for the degrees, induced a belief that the time had arrived when speculation on the subject should be succeeded by action." Consequently a letter, under date of Oct. 7, 1818, signed by Samuel Smith, John Howe, and Daniel Baxter, Jr., was addressed to the members of St. Andrew's R. A. Chapter, notifying them that they, in conjunction with others, contemplated the establishment of a similar institution, providing it should meet with encouragement, and pledged themselves that if their views should not be met with the most cordial feelings, that they would as cheerfully abandon the project as they now engage in it. The result of this course of conduct produced a desirable, a cordial and a happy effect; for at the first public meeting of the Companions, in Masons' Hall, Oct. 19, 1818, they with pleasure observed a number of that body uniting with them in supplicating the blessings of Jehovah on the infant institution. At this meeting a petition was drawn up and received eighteen signatures, which was presented to St. Andrew's R. A. Chapter on Wednesday, Nov. 11, 1818, when with a unanimity as honorable to themselves as favorable to the petitioners, they, without debate, gave it their voluntary approbation. On its presentation to the M. E. Grand Chapter, Dec 8, 1818, it was committed to a committee of five, viz., Companions Fowle, Purkitt, Jenkins, Knapp, and Carrique, who unanimously reported in its favor, which report was unanimously accepted and a Warrant of Dispensation directed to be made out.

Under the authority of this warrant and pursuant to notice given in the Columbian Centinel and Galaxy, St. Paul's Royal Arch Chapter assembled for the first time as a regularly constituted society in the hall of the Commercial Coffee House, Boston, on Tuesday, Dec. 15, 1818, at 6 P. M., when the organization was completed as follows: —

Rev. PAUL DEAN	M. E. H. P.
DANIEL BAXTER	E. K.
Rev. CHEEVER FELCH	E. S.
JOHN HOWE	Sec'y.
Rev. AMOS CLARKE	R. A. C.
ETHAN COBB	C. H.
ELISHA V. GLOVER	M 3 V.
NATHANIEL HAMMOND	M. 2 V.
DANIEL BAXTER, Jr.	M. 1 V.
AARON BEAN and BENJAMIN STEVENS	S.
Rev. HOSEA BALLOU	Chaplain.

EBENEZER OLIVER, Closet Steward, Mas. Ward., and Tiler.

The first candidates proposed for degrees were Brothers William Bittle and Nathaniel Williams.

The Chapter held five Convocations under the Warrant of Dispensation, viz.: Dec. 15 and 21, 1818, at Commercial Coffee House, and Jan. 12, 19, and 23, 1819, at Masons' Hall, Ann Street.

At a Special Convocation of the M. E. Grand Chapter, held Jan. 25, 1819, a Charter was granted and it was voted, "That the Grand Chapter do now proceed to dedicate St. Paul's Chapter and install its officers."

This action was taken by reason of its having been signified by the Council that the anniversary of the conversion of St. Paul was the most appropriate time for this purpose, and, the M. E. Grand High Priest concurring in this view and expressing his approbation of the same, St. Paul's Chapter held a Special Convocation in Masons' Hall, on the same evening, when the Grand Chapter was introduced with all the honors, and the ceremonies of consecrating the Chapter and installing its several Officers were commenced and completed in a correct, dignified, solemn, and impressive manner; formal, but not vague or unmeaning; extended, but not tedious; not strictly novel, yet truly interesting; they arrested the attention, gratified the curiosity, and fully satisfied the expectations of every friend to the Order by whom they were witnessed.

M. E. Rev. Paul Dean delivered an address, which was a lucid, pertinent, and correct exposition of those feelings and sentiments which should be cherished in every heart and actuate every life. At the conclusion the company, embracing Officers and members of the Grand Chapter, Grand Lodge, Boston Encampment, St. Andrew's Chapter, and Lodges in Boston and vicinity, sat down to an entertainment where plenty had spread the table, where temperance filled the cup, and good-humor presided. Several Masonic toasts gave zest to the joys of the festive board; a peculiar sensibility was excited in the Companions when the M. E. Comp. Joseph Jenkins, High Priest of St. Andrew's Chapter, being called upon for a sentiment, arose, and, in a short but friendly, comprehensive, and pathetic address, offered his sincere congratulations to the new Chapter on the success of their labors and the happy prospects before them. Instrumental as he had been in its origin progress, and result, it afforded him a real pleasure to witness the accomplishment of an object which his best judgment had ever approved, and in which the finest feelings of his heart were so largely interested. His ardent wishes were expressed for their prosperity, and in proffering his personal regard, and his counsel and assistance whenever required, he most cordially presented "the right hand of fellowship" of the sister institution over which he presided.

The Officers installed were the same as under Dispensation, except that Comps John Webber and Francis Wyman were appointed Stewards.

From the By-Laws adopted the following extracts are made:—

"ART. II., SECT. 4. Every member shall settle his account with the Secretary at least once in a year. Should any neglect or refuse so to do, his name shall be returned to the Council as a delinquent, of which the Secretary shall notify him; and if such neglect or refusal should continue six months after said notification without a satisfactory excuse to the Chapter, he shall thereby forfeit his membership."

"Fee for degrees, thirty-one dollars.

"Fee for membership, ten dollars.

"Quarterages, two dollars."

The Second Installation of Officers was celebrated at Concert Hall, on the festive anniversary of St. Paul, Jan. 25, 1820.

An address was delivered by the Rev. Comp. Cheever Felch, and the Record informs us that the "varied performances were tested, approbated, and commended, not merely by Companions and Brethren, but by a discerning public of both sexes who shared the gratification they afforded. The invitations of the members had been liberal and unconfined to sex, age, or profession. The Clergy of various denominations, gentlemen of distinction, old and young, matrons and young ladies, joined with the Chapter, the officers of the Grand and St. Andrew's Chapters, the Encampment, and officers of the various Lodges in Boston and vicinity."

Our Philadelphia Companions may perhaps take exceptions to this, yet it must be borne in mind that the principal actors were the Fathers of Capitular Masonry in its present form.

Oct. 20, 1820, Voted, That the Treasurer be authorized and directed to pay over to the Treasurer of the M. W. Grand Lodge of Massachusetts the sum of two hundred dollars on account of the Chapter to assist in defraying the expense of fitting up the Masons' Hall in the Old State House."

March 20, 1821. First Convocation held in new Masons' Hall, Old State House.

Sept. 18, 1821. M. E. Paul Dean, having been elected D. G. H. Priest of the Grand Chapter, took his leave of the chair and surrendered the Charter to the hands of the second officer.

June 17, 1825. The Chapter assembled at Concert Hall at 8 A. M., and in company with the Grand and other Chapters proceeded to Charlestown and assisted in laying the corner-stone of Bunker Hill Monument.

March 27, 1827. "Voted, That this Chapter will be responsible and pay their proportion, in connection with the other Masonic Bodies in this city, of the rent of the contemplated Masonic Temple, so as to insure the annual income or profit of six per cent on the cost thereof; and that this Chapter will invest a sum not less than two thousand dollars in the stock of said building."

April 4, 1827. "Resolved, That the committee be authorize to expend a sum not exceeding one thousand dollars in the purchase of a site for a Masonic Temple."

Dec. 16, 1828. "Resolved, That it is expedient to have a course of Philosophical Lectures delivered before the Chapter at their regular meetings during the winter."

Jan. 20, 1829. Introductory lecture delivered by Rev. Samuel Barrett.

Feb. 17, 1829, and during the spring, lectures were delivered by Dr J. V. C. Smith.

Nov. 17, 1829, Rev. Bro. Chickering delivered a lecature on astronomy.

It was about this period that the anti-Masonic excitement raged, and, although the Chapter continued to hold its Convocations with great regularity, yet work was somewhat scarce, and the evenings of meeting were taken up in a measure with lectures by prominent Companions, of which the above mentioned were introductory. Following these, during the succeeding years, Comps. A. A. Dame, Dr. J. V. C. Smith, George G. Smith, Rev. Paul Dean, Dr. John Flint, Dr. Daniel Harwood, Nahum Capen, Dr. Winslow Lewis, and others delivered interesting lectures on a variety of subjects. The Chapter, however, was by no means idle. In the mean time the Temple, on the corner of Temple Place, was approaching completion, and on Nov. 15, 1831, "The Committee reported that they had procured apartments at the rent of forty dollars per annum."

Jan. 17, 1832. First record of meeting at the Masonic Temple, Tremont Street.

Feb. 21, 1832. Treasurer reported he had loaned the Grand Lodge $1,000 for five years at five per cent per annum.

April 30, 1833. The Chapter attended the Centennial Anniversary of St. John's Lodge.

June 10, 1833. One hundred dollars appropriated to aid in the completion of Bunker Hill Monument.

June 21, 1845. In consideration of the prosperous condition of the Chapter, the Quarterages were reduced from two to one dollar.

Nov. 30, 1847. Rev. Comp. Paul Dean, General Gr. H. Priest, installed Hon. Robert P. Dunlap, ex-Governor of Maine, into the office of General Gr. High Priest in the presence of Massachusetts Grand Chapter, Knights Templars, Princes of Jerusalem, Royal Arch Chapters, and other Masonic orders. The Record says, "The like ceremony was never before performed within any State Chapter in the Union."

Sept. 12, 1850. A Special Convocation was held in Masonic Temple on Thursday morning, at nine o'clock, in consequence of an intimation having been received from the General Grand Chapter, then in session in this city, that it was desirous of witnessing an exemplification of the work which had been adopted. At eleven o'clock the General Grand Chapter was received with due honors, and M. E. Comp. Lovell then proceeded to exemplify the work by Advancing Bro. Wm. H. L. Smith to the degree of Mark Master; the degree of P. M. was then conferred upon Bro. Smith; he was then received and acknowledged as a M. E. M., at the conclusion of which ceremony the General Grand Chapter retired, after notifying the Chapter that it would convene with them on the following day at 12 M. Accordingly the Chapter again assembled on Friday, Sept. 13, at 12 M., when Bro. Smith was Exalted to the degree of Royal Arch Mason in due form. The General Grand Chapter then withdrew.

It will be thus seen that our Past M. E. High Priest, Wm. H. L. Smith, was the candidate throughout, and was thus out of precedent initiated into the mysteries of Capitular Masonry. This is believed to be without a parallel in the history of Royal Arch Masonry in this country, and was an occasion to which the Companions of this Body will ever look back with pleasant satisfaction. The reason for this incident is mentioned in the biographical sketch of M. E. Comp. Lovell.

April 15, 1851. But few members present, it being a severe storm during which Minot Ledge Lighthouse was swept away.

Nov. 28, 1851. The Chapter convened to hear a leeture by Comp. J. V. C. Smith, who had just returned from a tour in the Holy Land, entitled "Conversation on the condition of Palestine, with observations on the manners and customs, arts and sciences, and the ruins of Jerusalem and its vicinity," during which he presented the Chapter with a fragment of stone from King Solomon's Temple, broken off with his own hands. The stone was suitably inscribed and deposited with the archives, but was lost in the burning of the Winthrop House.

Jan. 16, 1855. Fee for degrees advanced to thirty-five dollars.

Nov. 16, 1858. Regular Convocation held in Nassau Hall, corner of Common and Washington Streets, in consequence of the Masonic Temple having been sold to the United States government.

Nov. 20, 1860. The regular Convocation was held in Freemasons' Hall, Winthrop House, corner of Tremont and Boylston Streets, and the Chapter contracted with the Grand Lodge to occupy apartments for ten years at $200 per annum.

April 5, 1861. Freemasons' Hall destroyed by fire.

April 19, 1864. Held regular Convocation in Nassau Hall.

May 31, 1864. Held Special Convocation in apartments of St. Matthew's Chapter, South Boston.

June 21, 1864. Regular Convocation in Chelsea, apartments of Chapter of the Shekinah.

Sept. 20, 1864. Freemasons' Hall, Summer Street.

Dec 20, 1864. Fee for degrees advanced to fifty dollars.

Sept. 17, 1867. The Chapter held its regular Convocation in Egyptian Hall, so designated, in the new Masonic Temple, corner of Tremont and Boylston Streets, at an annual rental of $700.

Jan. 25, 1869. The fiftieth anniversary of the Consecration and Constitution of St. Paul's R. A. Chapter was celebrated this evening by a public installation of its officers; at the conclusion of these ceremonies the Companions and their invited guests, numbering in all some five hundred, repaired to the apartments in first story, known as the "St. George," where they partook of an elegant banquet. After ample justice had been done to the viands, the company separated to examine the new and spacious apartments of the Temple, and, on reaching the upper floor, found the 'Germanias" discoursing such sweet strains of enticing music that they soon found themselves involuntarily threading the intricacies of the mazy dance. Thus closed an evening of unalloyed pleasure to all who participated in its enjoyments.

The custom of celebrating the Anniversary of St. John the Baptist was observed during the first fifty years of our existence, invitations having been received and accepted as follows: —

1821. — At the consecration of Monitor Lodge, at Waltham.

1824. — With Constellation Lodge, of Dedham.

1836. — With St. John's Lodge, of Portsmouth, N. H.

1841. — Same invitation accepted.

1845. — With King Solomon's and Grand Lodge on Bunker Hill.

1846. — With Aurora Lodge, of Fitchburg.

1847. — With Morning Star Lodge, of Worcester.

1848. — With Star of the East Lodge, of New Bedford.

1849. — With St. Mark's Lodge, of Newburyport.

1850. — With Middlesex Lodge, of Framingham.

1851. — With Essex Lodge, of Salem.

1854. — With Middlesex Lodge, of Framingham.

1855. — With Montgomery Lodge, of Milford.

1859. — With Middlesex Lodge, of Framingham.

At the date of writing (April, 1884) the Chapter has held nine hundred and seventy-five Convocations, and has exalted twelve hundred and eighteen Royal Arch Masons, being an average of over eighteen candidates a year during its existence; and, when we take into consideration the long period of anti-Masonic excitement, when work was practically at a standstill, it is a record that any Chapter may be proud of.

Eight hundred and eighty-seven Companions have signed the By-Laws and enjoyed the benefits of membership, and the following Chapters have gone out from us: —

St John's, East Boston, in 1854.
St. Matthew's, South Boston, in 1863.
Cambridge, Cambridgeport, in 1864.
Waltham, Waltham, in 1864.
Mt. Vernon, Roxbury, in 1865.
Menotomy, Arlington, in 1866.
Somerville, Somerville, in 1868.
Joseph Warren, Provincetown, in 1870.

Leaving the present membership at four hundred and twenty-nine.

"The past is secure; the future —"

In no spirit of egotism we point to the motto recently adopted, "Si societatem fraternam quæris, circumspice."

BIOGRAPHICAL SKETCHES

AND

DECEASED PAST HIGH PRIESTS.

Of the eighteen Companions named in the Charter, two served as High Priests; viz., Rev. Paul Dean and John Howe: the remainder are here mentioned in order.

DANIEL BAXTER.

E. Companion Daniel Baxter was born in that part of Braintree, in the county of Norfolk, which is now called Quincy, on the 1st of March, 1758. He moved to Boston in the year 1794, and commenced business in the shoe trade; but after about five years he established himself in the lumber and wood business on Front Street, now Harrison Avenue, which he carried on successfully many years. He was a Selectman of the town several years, an Alderman of the city in 1823–4, and two years a Senator in the State Legislature from Suffolk County. In Quincy he served as Captain of an independent company in the militia during the American Revolution. Comp. Baxter was made a Mason in Old Colony Lodge, Hingham; admitted a member of Columbian Lodge, June 6, 1799; served as Junior Warden in 1800; as Senior Warden in 1802–3; as Master in 1804–5–6–9, and as Treasurer twenty-three years from 1811 to 1833 inclusive. He was exalted in St. Andrew's Chapter, Feb. 18, 1807; admitted a member Sept. 9, 1807, and was chosen Scribe of the Chapter in 1809. He resigned his membership in St. Andrew's Chapter, Jan. 6, 1819; was elected King of this Chapter on its first organization, and held the office one year, when he declined a re-election, but continued an active and useful member until his death, which occurred July 22, 1836. He was also a member of the Boston Council of Royal Masters. His time, his advice, and his purse were always ready to assist and relieve the wants and necessities of the worthy Brother and Companion who made application to him therefor.

CHEEVER FELCH.

E. and Rev. Companion Cheever Felch was born in Royalston, Mass., Feb. 27, 1788. His parents were pious, virtuous, and lovers of useful learning. They moved to Reading, Vt., in 1791. Cheever learned the trade of printer in the office of the Rutland Herald, and in 1807–8–9 published and edited the Farmer's Museum in Walpole, N. H. In 1810 he commenced the study of Divinity under the Rt. Rev. Bishop of the Eastern Diocese, and in 1812 was appointed a Chaplain in the United States Navy. In 1821 Brown's University conferred upon him the honorary degree of A. M. In the navy Comp. Felch's services were extensively useful and often arduous. He organized and maintained against many obstacles a system for the better education of our midshipmen. Beyond instructing them, he was employed from 1816 on surveys of our coasts and harbors, from Maine to Florida. Government also intrusted him with the examination of midshipmen for promotion. For some years he was on the Boston station. He received the Royal Arch Degree, Oct. 30, 1816, in St. Andrew's Chapter; was chosen Scribe of this Chapter at its first meeting, Dec. 18, 1818, which office he held one year. He was Grand Chaplain to the Grand Lodge of Massachusetts in 1821, and its Corresponding Grand Secretary in 1822. In 1825 he left the Navy; next year established in New York the paper called Coram's Champion; and died in that city in March, 1827, aged thirty-nine years. He left a widow and six daughters. Many circumstances of his life were remarkable and fraught with instruction. Essays from his pen have been published in numerous papers. His "Report relative to the Survey of George's Shoals" may be found in "Blunt's Coast Pilot." "A Memoir on the Subject of a Ship Canal through the Isthmus of Florida" is preserved in the Mechanic Magazine for 1826. Other articles are in the Champion, National Advocate, and elsewhere, sometimed signed "Coram."

MICHAEL ROULSTONE.

Companion Michael Roulstone was the first Treasurer of this Chapter, holding the office for six successive years.

He was born in Boston, May 15, 1776, and died June 19, 1849. He was made a Mason in Rising States Lodge, Boston, in 1800, and received the Chapter Degrees in Washington Chapter, Salem. He was admitted a member of Massachusetts Lodge, Boston, April 5, 1802, and held the office of Master in 1821, having previously held the offices of Senior and Junior Warden. He was a Captain in the militia during the war of 1812, and served in that capacity at Fort Independence, in Boston Harbor; and was afterwards Lieutenant-Colonel of the Third Regiment of Massachusetts Militia. He was a plumber and glazier, and did his work faithfully and to the satisfaction of his employers. He was a Knight Templar, and at one time a member of Boston Encampment.

Our late Companion Thomas Hooper, in a letter to the writer some years since, says: "Fifty years have not erased from my memory when (by invitation of Comp. Michael Roulstone, of honored memory) some half a dozen of Royal Arch Masons met at his house to consider the expediency of petitioning for a second Royal Arch Chapter in Boston."

REV. AMOS CLARKE.

M. E. and Rev. Companion Amos Clarke was born in Sherborn, Mass., April 23, 1779. Graduating from Harvard College in class of 1804, he studied theology with Rev. President Bates, of Dedham. Ill-health preventing him from pursuing his chosen vocation, he for a while was engaged as a classical teacher in this city, preaching only occasionally, dividing his time between Dedham, Boston, Salem, and Sherborn, remaining about five years in each place. He was finally ordained May 20, 1830, in his native town, where he continued until his health compelled him to retire in 1842. He represented his town in General Court in 1845.

Companion Clarke was made a Mason in Columbian Lodge, Aug. 6, 1817, and took membership in Massachusetts Lodge. He was exalted in St. Andrew's Chapter, Jan. 21, 1818. Received degrees in Boston Council, Jan. 27, 1819. Withdrawing from St. Paul's Chapter, in 1820, he was elected Scribe of Washington Chapter, of Salem, April 12, 1821; on May 10 of same year was elected King, and Jan. 23, 1823, was elected High Priest, which office he held until July, 1824, when he resigned. He died in Sherborn.

ETHAN COBB.

Companion Ethan Cobb was a charter member of St. Paul's Chapter, and his name appears in the Records quite frequently up to about 1827, when it disappears.

He was Knighted in Boston Commandery, Jan. 31, 1822, and his name appears as a visitor in that body Nov. 6, 1822. I can obtain no information as to where he came from, or where he received his Lodge and Chapter degrees.

The Boston Directory of 1818 and 1820 give Ethan Cobb, innholder, 21 Newbury Street.

SAMUEL SMITH.

Companion Samuel Smith was born in Westford, Mass., Nov. 17, 1780; he was made a Mason in Massachusetts Lodge, and took membership in Columbian Lodge, Nov. 6, 1807. Serving for a number of years in the subordinate offices, he was elected W. Master in 1820–21–22. Have been unable to ascertain where he was exalted. He withdrew from St. Paul's Chapter, in 1821.

ELISHA V. GLOVER.

Companion Elisha V. Glover was made a Mason in Columbian Lodge, Oct. 12, 1809, was admitted a member thereof, Sept. 20, 1810, and was elected Senior Warden in 1816; was exalted in St. Andrew's Chapter, Dec. 11, 1811; was Master of the 3d Vail in St. Paul's Chapter during the first year of its organization, and was an honorary member at the time of his death. He was Superintendent of the Masonic Apartments in 1818. He was a member in the Boston Encampment of Knights Templars, and of the Boston Council of Royal Masters; in all of which bodies he was acknowledged to be a faithful and devoted Mason. He was for thirty years a Constable of the City of Boston, and for several years a worthy and esteemed member of the Second Baptist Church in Salem Street, Boston, and gave satisfactory evidence of being a sincere and exemplary Christian. He was born in Cambridge in 1785, and died in New Jersey, June 6, 1856, while on a visit to his friends, aged seventy-one years.

NATHANIEL HAMMOND.

Companion Hammond was a housewright by profession, and as such was, during his active life, employed in the erection and completion of some of the finest residences at the West End of our city. He was made a Mason in Columbian Lodge, April 27, 1807, taking membership Sept. 10 same year. Exalted in St. Andrew's Chapter, May 17, 1815; was an original member of Boston Council. He died in 1872.

DANIEL BAXTER, JR.

Companion Daniel Baxter, Jr., was born in Quincy, Mass., Sept. 18, 1792, and died in Newton, Mass., Feb. 4, 1860. He was made a Mason in Columbian Lodge, May 6, 1816; became a member the same year, and was Master of said Lodge in 1823–24–25. He was exalted in St. Andrew's Chapter, Jan. 21, 1818. At the first organization of St. Paul's Chapter he was Master of the 1st Vail, and held the office of Scribe in 1831. He was also one of the Committee of Finance in 1820–21–22–23, and continued an active and useful member for several years. He was a Knight Templar, and a member of the Boston Encampment. For several years he was a member of the House of Representatives of Massachusetts, and was engaged in mercantile pursuits in Boston, being, at one time, a partner of Brother William H. Stedman, of Boston.

JOHN WEBBER.

Companion John Webber was born in Marblehead, Mass., Feb. 6, 1793. When he was about three years of age, his father, who was a sea captain, died, leaving his family in very poor circumstances, so that he was obliged at the early age of ten years to do what he could to support himself and mother. Among the many hardships of his life at this time may be mentioned the fact that he walked from this city to Cambridge, daily, being obliged to be at his work (rope-making) at daylight, and remaining until dark, when he walked home again, receiving as a compensation one dollar and fifty cents a week.

At the age of fifteen he was apprenticed to Josiah Dunham, of South Boston, to learn what was then termed the Art and Mystery of Ropemaking, to serve for six years. After serving four years, having concluded he had learned all that it was possible for him to do, he purchased his remaining time from his employer, working early and late, and denying himself food and clothing, to enable him to discharge the debt. He finally located himself in Roxbury in 1813, and remained in business in that vicinity until 1856, during which period of time he had in his employ from three hundred to five hundred men.

His rope-walks were destroyed by fire six times, at a loss of $800,000, and a net loss of $350,000. About the year 1816 he was taxed for $325,000, which was at the time considered above the average.

Comp. Webber was made a Mason in Washington

Lodge, Roxbury, June 18, 1817, and he was one of the members to whom the Charter was restored by the Grand Lodge, on the 9th of September, 1846. He was exalted in St. Andrew's Chapter, May 1, 1818, and took the degrees in Boston Council, May 19, 1819. He died May 12, 1863.

FRANCIS WYMAN.

Companion Francis Wyman was made a Mason in King Solomon's Lodge, Charlestown, in 1817, and was exalted in St. Andrew's Chapter, May 29, 1817, and died in 1822. He was an iron merchant, carrying on the business in Main Street, Charlestown. In all the relations of life he was universally respected, and his death regretted.

HOSEA BALLOU.

Rev. Companion Hosea Ballou was the son of a Baptist clergyman, of Richmond, N. H., where he was born the 30th of June, 1771. He united with the Baptist church in his native town when in his nineteenth year. He soon after embraced the doctrines of Universal Salvation; was excluded from the Baptist church, and began to preach in the autumn of 1791. In 1796 he married Ruth Washburn, who survived him. He was first settled as a preacher in Dana, Mass.; subsequently in Barnard, Vt.; then in Portsmouth, N. H.; afterwards in Salem, Mass.; whence he removed to Boston in 1817, and became the first pastor of the Universalist Church and Society in School Street. He continued here a period of thirty-five years; built up a large and respectable society, was honored, respected, and beloved by his people; and departed this life 7th of June, 1852, in the eighty-second year of his age. His funeral was attended on the 9th of June, from the church where he had so long ministered, amid a large concourse of his parishioners and friends. It is not known where he received the degrees, either in Lodge or Chapter. He was Junior Grand Warden of the Grand Lodge of New Hampshire in 1810–11–12–13, and Senior Grand Warden in 1814. He was Chaplain of St. Paul's Chapter in 1819. He was emphatically a self-educated man, possessing by nature a strong mind and retentive memory. By his industry and perseverance he became one of the most distinguished divines of the denomination to which he belonged; and although he may have differed with some of his friends in his religious belief, none ever doubted the sincerity of his faith, or the honesty of his intentions. He was honored and respected by all classes of his fellow-citizens.

SNELLING POWELL.

Companion Snelling Powell was born in Carmarthen, Wales, in 1758, and died in Boston, 1821. He was probably made a Mason in England, before he came to this country. He was Senior Warden of Columbian Lodge in 1795–6, and one of its original members. He was ever ready and willing to contribute to the relief of a worthy Companion or Brother, whom he found poor and needy. He was lessee and manager of the Federal Street Theatre for more than twenty years; and it was made, by his judicious management, a fashionable place of resort. As a citizen and neighbor, Comp. Powell was respected and esteemed, and deservedly so, for he was a man of integrity and responsibility.

The New England Galaxy, under date April 13, 1821, thus speaks of him: —

"When he arrived in Boston, violent prejudices existed against the establishment of a theatre; players were viewed by some of the narrow-minded bigots of that period as hardly entitled to the common privileges of humanity, and even the more liberal almost dreaded contamination from their approach. Mr. Powell was prudent enough to pursue a course of upright and gentlemanly conduct, and he was fortunate enough to conciliate, by that course, the refined and liberal, and if he could not win the favor of the uncandid and uncharitable, he did at least disarm their enmity of some portion of its malignity and soften the obstinacy of the ignorant."

AARON BEAN.

Companion Aaron Bean was born in Brentwood, N. H., in 1779; fitted for college partly with Rev. Mr. Smith, of Gilmanton, N. H., and partly at Gilmanton Academy, and graduated at Dartmouth College in 1804. He came to Boston soon after graduating, and was several years Usher in the Franklin School under Comp. Asa Bullard. He was a great favorite with both parents and pupils, and discharged the duties of his position with signal ability and success. He afterwards engaged in mercantile pursuits, and was also much employed by his connections and friends in the management of their property, as also that of the widow and orphan. He died April 4, 1820, in his forty-first year, leaving a widow and two children. Where he was initiated is unknown. He was admitted a member of Columbian Lodge, Boston, June 5, 1817; was Marshal of that Lodge in 1818, and elected their Master for the years 1819-20, but died while in office, April 4, 1820. He was Exalted in St. Andrew's Chapter, May 10, 1817, and was an original member of Boston Council. The services rendered by him to the Chapter were most valuable and important. He was a wise and able counsellor, and ever ready with his services, his counsel, and means, when required for the promotion of the interests of the Masonic Institution; and no worthy, indigent Brother or Companion ever applied to him in vain for aid and relief. He was Chairman of the Finance Committee of St. Paul's Chapter from its organization until his decease.

From an address delivered before the Chapter, April 18, 1820, by M. E. Comp. John Howe, the following has been taken: —

"Aaron Bean possessed in an eminent degree all those qualities which are calculated to command respect, conciliate esteem, and inspire confidence. He was a judicious, benevolent, honest, good man. His talents were more calculated to become useful than dazzling. His judgment was sound, correct, and discriminating. Few men like him formed their opinions on as mature reflection; and fewer still ever deduced more correct inferences, or drew more rational and just conclusions. When he could not convince he did not attempt to control the judgments of others. No person could be familiar with his principles or character and cherish ill-will or enmity towards him. In all my intercourse with him, I never heard him utter a malevolent observation, which, on reflection, he could have wished to recall; nor to commit an act which, on a retrospect, he could have reason to repent of."

As a Mason there is no necessity to describe him. In him the Fraternity have sustained a severe, an irreparable loss. It would not be derogating from the merits of others nor a deviation from the truth to observe, that to the exertions of the late Aaron Bean your Chapter owes its existence, and in no small degree its present prosperity. He was one of the three who formed its first triangle. The designs were all laid down on his own trestle-board; and by his skill and ingenuity were so faithfully executed that the work was approved by all the overseers when first presented for inspection. In this enterprise he cheerfully engaged without a desire of distinction or a hope of fee or reward. No person ever held an office in it but who, occasionally, has received some assistance from him; and many were entirely indebted to him for their whole course of instruction in the lectures and work. Notwithstanding his fitness to support, with honor to himself and advantage to his Companions, the highest office in their power to bestow, yet he modestly declined accepting any, always reserving himself as a supernumerary, and whenever a vacancy occurred, stood ready to discharge the duties of it, willing to perform any part, even the most humble, to promote so noble and glorious an undertaking.

On various committees to which he was appointed, his decisions were generally acceded to; for his opinion was never formed from partiality or prepossession. His conduct on such occasions will answer as a model; and at all times, when any important question arises, you cannot better be enabled to determine right, than by asking yourselves, How would Bean have decided?

BENJAMIN STEVENS.

Companion Benjamin Stevens was born in Boston, April 16, 1790, on the spot on Washington Street where stood the piano-forte establishment of Messrs. Jonas Chickering & Sons, consumed by fire a few years since. He has been a most useful citizen, having done the city and State important service. Under the old town government of Boston, he was clerk of ward twelve four or five years, and under the city government he was warden of ward twelve four years, and of ward eleven two years. He was a member of the Board of Health during the mayoralty of Hon. J. Quincy, Sr., and of the primary school committee two or three years. He served as an inspector of ward eleven one year, and of ward twelve two years; and was a member of the Common Council from the same ward in 1828. He represented Boston for a period of four years at one time, and one year at another time, in the House of Representatives of Massachusetts. But the great public service which he has rendered, however, has been the long and most faithful performance of the duties of Sergeant-at-Arms of the General Court of Massachusetts. First elected in 1835, and held it until 1860, a period of twenty-five years. This station he ever filled with the highest honor to himself, and to the entire acceptance of the very large number of individuals who, as legislators, have been assembled at the Capitol during that time. As a Mason, Comp. Stevens enjoyed the affectionate regard of his Brethren and Companions. He was made a Mason in Columbian Lodge, April 17, 1817, and was admitted a member of the Lodge June 5 of that year. He served as Marshal of said Lodge, an office to which his agreeable manners and knowledge of the etiquette belonging to a Lodge eminently fitted him, during the years 1819, 1820, 1821, 1822, 1842, 1845 and 1846. He became a life member in 1826, and the Lodge subsequently complimented him with honorary membership. He held in the Grand Lodge, for several years, various subordinate but important positions. He served the Chapter several years as a member of the Committee of Finance, in which capacity he rendered important and valuable services, always taking a deep and lively interest in its affairs. He was elected an honorary member in 1862. In all his business relations he enjoyed the confidence of every person who knew him. His strict integrity, good judgment, and kind and amiable disposition caused him to be highly respected and esteemed by all who became acquainted with him. He died Feb. 11, 1865.

THOMAS HOOPER.

Companion Thomas Hooper was born in Charlestown, Mass., April 16, 1779. Left an orphan at the early age of thirteen, he was brought up in the family of Deacon David Goodwin, one of the founders of King Solomon's Lodge, of whom he learned the trade of carpenter. After serving his time he entered into business with his former master, and continued the same for some sixteen years, when, on account of his health, he relinquished the business, and for a few years was receiver of tolls on Charles River Bridge, and afterwards became connected with the Massachusetts Bank of Boston, where he remained in a responsible and trusted position for over thirty-three years. He was for several years Selectman of his town, and Alderman under the city charter.

Comp. Hooper was made a Mason in King Solomon's Lodge in 1800, served as Secretary in 1805–6–7, and W. M. in 1812–13–14. He died July 23, 1868.

PAUL DEAN.

H. P. 1818-19-20.

M. E. and Rev. Companion Paul Dean was born in Barnard, Windsor County, Vt., March 28, 1782. He passed his youth in agricultural labor, in attending common schools, in academical and biblical studies, and in school teaching. In the year 1806 he commenced the Christian ministry at Montpelier, Vt.; from thence, in 1810, he removed to New Hartford, N. Y., and in 1813 he came to reside in Boston. He was for many years the pastor of the First Universalist Church, in Boston; and was subsequently settled over the "Central Universalist Society" in 1823, being its first pastor, where he officiated till 1840, discharging his duties as pastor and friend with faithfulness, ability, and success. Of late years he has resided at Framingham, Mass. He early became a life member of the American Bible Society, and of the American Colonization Society. He was also a member of the School Committee in Boston, several years. This faithful teacher in the Christian church has ever been a most devoted and earnest member of our Order. His public addresses, which are numerous, bear the impress of a mind which realized the importance and the excellent tendency of Masonic principles; there is a fervency of attachment to its teachings, which, emanating from so good, so pure a Companion, was strongly instrumental in sustaining them, when such support was so much needed; it cheered the wavering, it rebuked the vacillating, it crushed the demon of its opposition; and perhaps it is not too eulogistic to assert that the name of Paul Dean will stand second to none in the roll of that fame due to those who dared to contend for the right, at a period when courage and constancy among Masons were in the minority. He periled all for truth — it prevailed; and under the vine and the fig-tree of its revival and diffusion he was permitted to enjoy the results of the long-continued contest and final victory.

The activity of his Masonic career may be deduced by an enumeration of the various bodies with which he was associated; and this was not, like so many others, a mere titular association. He worked while his day lasted. What he deemed good in principle he favored by action. M. E. Comp. Dean was initiated, passed, and raised in Center Lodge, No. 6, at East Rutland, Vt., during the winter of 1805. He received the Chapter Degrees in Horeb R. A. Chapter, No. 7, at New Hartford, N. Y., in 1811. The Degrees of Royal, Select, and Super-Excellent Master, and the Templar Degrees were conferred on him in Boston. He was elected the first High Priest in 1819, and was re-elected in 1820-21; resigning, however, Sept. 18, 1821, in consequence of his election as Deputy Grand High Priest of the General Grand Chapter of the United States. He was an honorary member at the time of his decease. He presided over its labors with great ability, fidelity, and success, and ever took a sincere and lively interest in promoting its welfare and prosperity. He has served as Grand High Priest of the General Grand Chapter of the United States for nine successive years; as High Priest of the Grand Chapter of this State for three years; as President of the convention of High Priests in Massachusets six years; as Grand Chaplain of Grand Lodge of Massachusetts, District Deputy Grand Master of the First District in 1821-2-3; Deputy Grand Master in 1835-6-7, and Most Worshipful Grand Master in 1838-9-40; as T. I. Grand Master in Boston Council of Royal Masters three years; as Prelate of Grand Encampment of Massachusetts and Rhode Island three years; and as Prelate of the General Grand Encampment of the United States seven years. He died Oct. 1, 1860.

JOHN HOWE.

H. P. 1821, and last of the Charter Members.

M. E. Companion John Howe was born in Roxbury, June 4, 1779. He was Clerk in the Probate Office at Dedham several years, and afterwards kept an English goods store in Roxbury. He went into the Custom House in Boston in 1817 as Clerk, and was afterwards appointed Deputy Collector, which office he held until about the time of his decease. He received the first three degrees of Masonry in Washington Lodge, Roxbury, in 1815, and was Master of that Lodge in 1819–20. He was exalted in St. Andrew's Chapter, May 5, 1818, and in this Chapter was its first Secretary in 1819, and King in 1820, and High Priest in 1821. He was a very active and very zealous Mason; possessed most excellent qualities, both of head and heart. He delivered several Masonic addresses, which were able, instructive, and highly beneficial in their influence exerted in the community. He died March 28, 1828, in the forty-ninth year of his age. His funeral was attended by a large number of the members of this Chapter, who deeply felt and mourned the loss they had sustained in the early death of their beloved Companion.

The records of Comp. Howe are a model for elegance, neatness, and faithfulness; he spared neither time nor labor upon them, and they stand to-day as clear, crisp, and fresh as the day they were written.

M. E. Comp. Howe was installed High Priest, Feb. 1, 1821, and held the office one year, and in his address on leaving the chair the following summary is taken: —

"During the four years now ended Degrees in full or in part have been conferred on one hundred and fifty-eight candidates, and sixty-one have been admitted to fellowship, and the Treasury represented $1,269.78. Taking into consideration the expenses of charter, fitting up, paraphernalia, donation to Grand Lodge, fees to Grand Chapter, etc., the result is not discouraging."

ABRAHAM A. DAME.

H. P., 1822-23-42-43.

M. E. Abraham Annis Dane was born in Orford, N. H., Aug. 27, 1792, and died in this city Nov. 14, 1878, in the eighty-seventh year of age He was the son of Theodore S. and Martha (Tillotson) Dame, and is reputed to have been a direct descendant of Archbishop Tillotson of distinguished memory. He was educated in the common schools and academy in his native town, and fitted himself to enter the second year of Dartmouth College, but troubles having arisen from some cause respecting the management of the college, he, by advice of family friends, relinquished the idea of collegiate life, turned his attention to the law, and after passing the literary examination then requisite before being admitted a student of the law, entered the office of A. G. Brittian, Esq., where he continued for two and a half years a diligent and devoted student.

He then removed to Boston, and formed a connection with Timothy Bigelow, Esq., with whom he continued in the study and practice of the law, until he was admitted to the bar in 1816, at the session of the Court of Common Pleas, holden at Concord, Mass. He now commenced the practice of that arduous profession to which his early tastes had inclined him, and from the absorbing duties of which he never once in the whole long period of sixty-two years turned aside for any social or political preferment. His practice was quite extensive and almost exclusively in that branch now recognized as Commercial law. During his apprenticeship, Timothy Bigelow was Grand Master of the Grand Lodge of Massachusetts, and with his approbation the young lawyer early solicited admission through the portals of Massachusetts Lodge to all the grand and hallowing principles, memories, and virtues which are at once the glory and inheritance of all good Masons. He was initiated in 1818, and having passed through the intermediate offices, was elected Worthy Master, Dec. 3, 1823, which position he filled two years, and in December, 1843, he was again elected Master, serving two years.

In 1827 he was Junior Grand Warden of the Grand Lodge, then for three years Senior Grand Warden, and then for two years D. D. Grand Master. His thorough knowledge of the old York ritual, his dignified bearing, his emphatic fervor, conspired to render him a very impressive and effective officer in every station he was called to fill. Even in his late years, when invited to fill the chair of some absent officer or to preside at elections, the sterling fires of his old enthusiasm blazed out to add new zest and point to the language of the ritual.

He was Exalted Feb. 17, 1819, served as Scribe in 1820–40–53, King in 1821, and High Priest in 1822–23–42–43, and discharged the duties of the several offices with the same signal abilities. In Grand Chapter he was for twenty-one years its Treasurer, and one year Grand Scribe. In 1822 he entered Boston Encampment, and held the several offices of Junior Warden, Prelate, Captain General, Generalissimo, and presided over the Encampment in the years 1827–28–29, and was Grand Commander of Massachusetts and Rhode Island in 1835–36. The Council Degrees were conferred on him in 1820. In the A. and A. S. Rite he advanced to the 33°. For the Lodge, Chapter, Council, and Encampment work and lectures he was to the day of his death the undoubted authority.

ENOCH HOBART.

H. P., 1824-31-32.

M. E. Enoch Hobart was born in Hingham, Mass., and died in this city, Jan. 31, 1866, aged seventy-seven years. He was by profession a tailor and draper, and for many years carried on his business on State Street, afterwards on Tremont Street. On relinquishing business he was elected President of the U. M. Insurance Company of this city.

He was made a Mason in Massachusetts Lodge, Dec. 6, 1816, and was for many years one of the Trustees of its Charity Fund. Exalted in St. Paul's Chapter, Feb. 17, 1819, he was elected King in 1823, and High Priest in 1824, and on Oct. 18, 1825, "addressed the members in an affectionate manner and took leave of the Chapter, he being about leaving the city for New York." He afterwards returned, and was again elected King in 1829–30, and High Priest in 1831–32. Subsequently he was elected Scribe in 1842–43.

SIMON W. ROBINSON.

H. P., 1825-6.

M. E. Companion Simon Wiggin Robinson was born in New Hampton, N. H., Feb. 19, 1792, and died in Lexington, Mass., Oct. 16, 1868, aged seventy-six years. His father, Capt. Noah Robinson, a native also of New Hampton, was a stanch and loyal citizen of the old school, and did honorable service for his country during our Revolutionary struggle.

At the age of twenty Comp. Robinson was also in the service of his country, and, as Adjutant, was stationed at Portsmouth, N. H , during the war of 1812. At the close of the war he left the army and located in Boston, where he entered into active commercial business. in which he continued until about 1845, when he retired with a moderate competency. He was at one time a member of the Legislature, and during his active career maintained a spotless character and an honored name. The Masonic record of Comp. Robinson presents that same pure type of unblemished character that so marked his business and social life, and won for him a name that will long be cherished with fraternal recollection. He was made a Mason in Mt. Lebanon Lodge, Jan. 20, 1820, and served as its W. M for several years, serving also as its Treasurer from 1828 to 1843. Exalted in St. Paul's Chapter, Jan. 17, 1821, he served as Scribe in 1823, King in 1824, and High Priest in 1825–26. In Grand Chapter, Grand Scribe in 1834–35, Grand King in 1836, and Grand High Priest in 1837-38–39, and Grand Master of the Grand Lodge in 1840. Knighted in Boston Encampment in 1832, he assisted in the formation of De Molay Encampment, and served as Eminent Commander. In Grand Encampment of Massachusetts and Rhode Island he was Grand Commander in 1854–5. He attained in the A. and A. Rite the 33° in 1851.

EDWARD ASA RAYMOND.

H. P., 1827–28–44–45.

M. E. Companion Edward Asa Raymond was born in Holden, Mass., in 1791. While he was young, his father removed to Shutesbury, Mass., and he was reared to work on a farm, but later he went to Richmond, Va., with an elder brother Lewis; on his brother's death he returned home; later he started for Boston, and found employment at Cambridgeport with Benjamin Bigelow, a trader; afterwards he engaged in the business of a grocer in Dock Square, Boston, having with him his youngest brother, Emmons Raymond, who now holds the Presidency of one of our successful Northern railroads. Another brother, the Hon. Zebina L. Raymond, was formerly Mayor of Cambridge, and for a long time was a resident of Boston.

Comp. Raymond was for a long series of years a prominent member of the Democratic party, in Boston, and for several years held the position of Appraiser in the Custom House. He afterwards became interested in real estate, and amassed a fortune in successful operations.

Where he was made a Mason is in doubt, his immediate relatives believing that it was in a Lodge now extinct in or about Greenwich, Mass.; if so, it must have been Mt. Zion Lodge, of Hardwick, now of Barre, Mass.

He affiliated with St. John's Lodge, Boston, April 2, 1838, afterwards with Massachusetts Lodge, Nov. 24, 1843. He was Grand Master of the Grand Lodge in 1848–49–50.

Where he took a portion of the Chapter degrees is also a question. There was a Chapter in Greenwich, styled "King Hiram's," chartered in 1815, which became extinct in 1838. He may have received them there, or he may have received both Lodge and portion of Chapter degrees while in Richmond, Va. He was Exalted, however, in St. Paul's Chapter, Sept. 28, 1819, and served as High Priest in 1827–28, and again in 1844–45. In 1834–5–6 he was elected and served as Grand High Priest of the Grand Chapter.

Knighted in Boston Commandery, Oct. 2, 1822, he was Eminent Commander in 1830–31, and Eminent Grand Commander of Massachusetts and Rhode Island in 1833–34.

In 1860 he was M. P. Grand Commander of the Supreme Council of Sov. Insp. General of the A. and A. Rite for the Northern Jurisdiction. He died Aug. 2, 1864.

DR. DANIEL HARWOOD.

H. P., 1835-6-7.

M. E. Companion Daniel Harwood was born in Barre, Mass., March 21, 1801, and died in Dorchester, Oct 2, 1881, in his eighty-second year. At the early age of eighteen, to use his own expression, he "started for an education," and in the New Salem, Dudley, and Leicester Academies, he was methodical, original, and self-reliant.

He began the practice of medicine in Northampton, but continuing his studies he graduated from the Medical School at Brunswick College. So mature and complete were his medical acquirements that he had no sooner finished his second course of lectures in Boston than he was invited by Dr. Prentiss, the celebrated dentist, of Portland, Me., to join with him and take charge of his large and lucrative practice. He accepted the invitation, and his swiftly growing reputation lifted him at once to the head of his profession; and he found that his new and incidental calling had, as he said, "taken possession of him," and was dominating his life. He made himself thoroughly conversant with medical and chemical science and technique as auxiliary to his adopted profession, inventing and even manufacturing many of the instruments used in his art. So distinguished were his abilities, and so extensive was his fame, that at the establishment of the Harvard Dental College, our Comp. Harwood was, without any previous consultation, or even intimation, elected to the Professorship of the Theory and Practice of Dentistry.

He removed to Boston in 1829, where he established himself in the same profession, continuing it very successfully until a short time previous to his death.

Comp. Harwood was a man of indomitable will, believing what was worth doing at all was worth doing well, and having this in view, he not only exerted all his abilities in the discharge of the various duties of the several offices his brethren called him to, but required from his subordinates the same care and attention he gave himself to them. A strict disciplinarian, the ritual most exact, the manner impressive, the time punctual to a second, attention reverent, compliance with the prescribed dress and ceremonial full and complete, yet in himself a dignified, courteous, old-school gentleman.

He was raised in Rising Star Lodge, of Worcester, in 1822, and affiliated with St. John's Lodge, of Boston, March 3, 1834, and was one of four or five persons who, through the "troublous times," assumed the expenses of the Lodge, continued its meetings, and served as W. M. in 1837–38–48–49–50.

In 1852 he was Senior Grand Warden in Grand Lodge. He was advanced to the Mark Master's Degree in St. John, N. S., and was exalted in Halifax, N. S., in 1826. Taking membership in St. Paul's Chapter in 1832, he was elected King in 1833–4, and High Priest in 1835–6–7, and also served as Treasurer in 1854–5–6–7–8.

He was Grand High Priest of the Grand Chapter of Massachusetts in 1855–6–7.

The Orders of Knighthood were conferred upon him in Boston Encampment in May, 1832, and, after filling the offices of Prelate, Captain, General, and Generalissimo, he was elected Eminent Commander in 1839–40; and, again, for the unusually long term of seven years next succeeding October, 1850. In 1857–8 he was Eminent Grand Commander of Massachusetts and Rhode Island. In the A. and A. Rite the 33° was conferred upon him Dec. 14, 1866.

No man ever loved Masonry more dearly than did Comp. Harwood, and with a love that knew no fading, even up to the moment of his decease. No man ever gave himself with more cheerful and unselfish devotion to aid the earnest seeker after Masonic light, and no man's words ever burned with more bitter reproof to the Masonic hypocrite and trifler.

DR. WINSLOW LEWIS.

H. P., 1838–9.

M. E. Companion Winslow Lewis was born in Boston, July 8, 1779, and died in Grantville, near Boston, Aug. 3, 1875.

In the printed Proceedings of the Grand Lodge of Massachusetts, Sept. 8, 1875, R. W. John T. Heard, as Chairman of Committee on Memorial, made an exhaustive report, covering two hundred and fifty pages, and from which the following has been extracted: —

"Death, with silent tread, has taken away one who for more than forty years was constant in his attendance on our Communications. His cheerful countenance we shall not again see, his cheering words we shall not again hear. When we are called to refreshment who can fill his place? 'Dr. Lewis was a born Mason.' From his youth to the time of his death he was endued with that spirit of benevolence and love of fraternization which are the elements of Masonry; and the motto which he induced the Grand Lodge to adopt some years since is one which should have been his own: Homo sum, et humani a me nil alienum puto (I am a man, and nothing which relates to man can be foreign to my bosom)."

Comp. Lewis was fitted for college under the tuition of Mr. Daniel Staniford, of Boston, graduated at Harvard University in 1819, studied medicine under the late Dr. John C. Warren, and received the degree of M. D. in 1822. He then went to Europe to perfect his professional studies and attended the lectures of Guillaume Depuytren and John Abernethy.

He was Counsellor of the Massachusetts Medical Society, a member of the American Medical Society at Paris, and consulting surgeon of the Massachusetts General Hospital. Representative to General Court in 1830–32–36; seven years a member of the school committee; an overseer of Harvard University from 1856 to 1862, and a visitor of the U. S. Marine Hospital. Of the New England Historic, Genealogical Society he was president from 1861 to 1866. Of the Numismatic Society he was president from 1860 to 1865.

He was made a Mason in Columbian Lodge, Feb. 3, 1831, and affiliated in St. John's Lodge, March 3, 1834; and, after serving as Junior Deacon and Junior Warden, was elected Senior Warden in 1839–43–44, and Marshal in 1840–5–6–7.

He was Grand Master of the Grand Lodge of Massachusetts in 1855–56–60, and for twenty-three years Committee on Library, and principally to his exertions are we indebted for a Masonic Library which has few superiors in the world. He was an honorary member of Columbian Lodge, of Boston; Loge Clémente Amitié, Paris, France; Pythagoras Lodge, No. 86, New York; Robert Lash Lodge, of Chelsea; Germania Lodge, of Boston; Winslow Lewis Lodge, of Boston; Kane Lodge, No. 454, New York; L'Union Française, No. 17, New York; Somerset Lodge, Norwich, Conn.

In Capitular Masonry Comp. Lewis was Exalted in St. Paul's Chapter, Sept. 27, 1831; served as Scribe in 1833–34–41; King in 1835–6–7; High Priest in 1838–9, and was Deputy Grand High Priest of the M. E. Grand Chapter in 1849.

He was created a Knight Templar in Boston Encampment, March 16, 1832, and presided over that body in 1844–5–6, was Eminent Grand Commander of Massachusetts and Rhode Island in 1858–9, and was Grand Generalissimo of the Grand Encampment of the United States in 1859. He was an honorary member of De Molay Commandery, of Boston, Winslow Lewis Commandery, of Salem, and St. John's Commandery, No. 4, of Philadelphia.

In the A. and A. Rite he was elevated to the 33°, and was crowned an active member of the Supreme Council N. M. J., May 16, 1861.

The reason of his becoming a Mason was singular. In the days when the Fraternity were abused without mercy, and persecuted to the utmost, he saw an advertisement in a paper of one of the most furious anti-Masons, Avery Allen, a name now almost forgotten, that on a certain day in 1829 he would deliver a lecture showing up the weakness and hypocrisy of Freemasonry, and its dangerous tendency. The doctor was led by curiosity to go and hear him; and the very sophisms this Arch-enemy of the Brotherhood used, and the abuse he heaped upon many of them, who were men without fear and without reproach, made him a convert on the other side and he became a Mason.

During his connection with the Institution he delivered many addresses, which have been carefully collected and published in this memorial of Brother Heard's. One, however, escaped the writer's notice, and it being so characteristic of the man, is now brought to light.

The occasion was at the close of the Masonic excitement in 1838, when at the regular Convocation held Nov. 20, it was "On motion, Voted, That the Secretary be directed to give notice that important business will come before the Chapter at its next meeting. Also, voted, that Comps. Lewis and Robinson be a committee to prepare resolutions, etc., for the purpose of arousing the members to a proper sense and action in regard to the necessary duty of attendance at the meetings of the Chapter."

At the Annual Convocation held Dec. 18, 1838, Comp. Lewis made the following Report: "Social order and union can only be maintained by concentration. Vigor and force of action are dependent not only upon the collection but upon the combined operation of effective power. These are evident both in the moral as well as physical world, in the world at large, and in the multifarious associations which, united, constitute the great whole.

"If these are true in regard to other combinations, with how much greater truth do they apply to us of the Masonic World, whose basis is Unity, whose power is Unity, whose existence is Unity!

"These maxims are urged upon us this evening, in order to stimulate the members of this Body to come forward, to combine forces, and to rally around our Masonic Altar, as of old; our vitality depends upon this; without the cheering presence of members, our social circulation is impeded and chilled, the heart but scarcely throbs, and the pulse loses its vigor, so that ere-long not even the three Æsculapians can arouse it to life. 'It will die and give no sign.' We owe our attendance to the fulfilling of our obligations to Masonry, to the presiding officer, and to each other.

"First. To Masonry, for to it we owe a debt. For its truths, for its influences, and for the social regeneration into which we have been called, we owe it much. Shall these maxims, hallowed by time, fall into disrepute by our neglect to con them faithfully and frequently? Let us say no.

"Second. There is a duty to the presiding officer which we neglect by our non-attendance. We have placed him in the van, shall we desert and leave him 'a barren throne'? a High Priest, but shaven and shorn of the laity to uphold him? Though without intent, it is a tacit denial of his attractions to concentrate around him his followers — unintentional we know it to be in the case of our respected Head (M. E. Comp. Harwood), whose courtesy, urbanity, and fraternal excellence we all acknowledge. This is not the hyperbole of personal friendship, but the echo of an annual sentiment. And as we must now allude to a successor, may we all gather around him, and usher him to the East with mutual pledges to sustain both him and our beloved Institution.

"Thirdly. We owe it to each other. Separation soon loosens the ties of friendship. Like another feeling

'Though warm awhile,
Soon it grows cold.
Absence soon blights the smile.'

"An apathy is begotten. The old familiar faces become strange, other engagements entwine our separated feelings, and at last coldness creeps upon us unawares.

'Then comes a frost
A chilling frost and nips the root.'

"The social and fraternal connection is dissolved, and the axe laid to the trunk of the Masonic Oak; and why should such things be? Is there another spot where man can meet like this? Is there another altar around which he can gather in harmony? on which we can throw the offerings of our hearts? Our opponents have declared the Institution crushed, and recommend other associations to succeed our own, as if the human heart was changed in its great characteristics, social union. Let us by our fervent attendance rebut it. Be your plain answer: The laws we reverence are our Good Father's legacy. The faith we follow teaches us to live in bonds of Charity with all mankind, and die in hope of bliss beyond the grave. Tell them thus and tell them too, we seek no change; and least of all such change as they would bring us. Our sister Chapter has set the good example, has demonstrated the advantages resulting from an unanimity of attendance. Shall we not vie with them in the social contest? shall we not gird ourselves with good intentions, and not only with good intentions, but with firm resolutions, to stand by and abide the same, or shall they outstrip us in the goodly race? Let our answer be,

'By St. Paul, no.'

"Let every Companion when absent reflect that a link will be wanting in the fraternal chain, a 'hiaties valde diflendles,' and that many kind voices are murmuring, 'I wish he were here.' From this evening let us date an epoch, founded upon constancy, fervency, and zeal; and let us nemine contradienta, adhere to the following resolutions: —

"1*st*. Resolved, That our Masonic associations are fraught with good; that an attendance upon them is beneficial to us as men, husbands, fathers, and Christians. That Masonry in her injunctions produces the happiest influences, 'that her ways are ways of pleasantness, and all her paths are peace.'

"2*d*. Resolved, That in future we will give our punctual attendance to the meetings of the Institution, so far as may be in our power so to do."

DR. JOHN FLINT.

H. P., 1840-1.

M. E. Companion John Flint was born in Petersham, Mass., Oct. 21, 1803, and died in this city, Jan. 8, 1875.

He was made a Mason in Leicester Lodge, and became a member of St. John's Lodge, March 3, 1834, and was elected Worshipful Master of that Lodge in 1839–40, and was Junior Grand Warden of the Grand Lodge in 1852. Admitted a member of this Chapter in May, 1831, he served as Scribe in 1835–6–7, King in 1838–9, and High Priest in 1840–1. He was Grand King of Grand Chapter in 1852.

Knighted in Boston Commandery in 1832, he was elected Eminent Commander in 1836-7, and Eminent Grand Commander of Massachusetts and Rhode Island in 1842–3.

Receiving his education in the Leicester Academy, he graduated and received his degree of M. D. from the Harvard Medical School. His "virtues walked a narrow round." He was not par excellence what is termed an eminent practitioner, not a professional scholar. His practice was large and successful, and he attained the rich prize of the good physician, the love, confidence, and regard of those who committed to him the great trust of health. He was ever attentive to his vocation, and during his long career was seldom absent from his post of duty. In his uneventful life there are no salient points, no striking events on which to dwell; its tranquil tide and flow was so unruffled that it was rounded out to a peaceful and happy close. He fulfilled life's duties and responsibilities if not with brilliancy, he performed them with honesty, zeal, and an earnest devotion, which have obtained for him the grateful respect and regard of all those associated with him in the varied relations of society.

"Summoned, not without timely but gentle warning, he has been released from the growing burdens of age, and the threatened prospect of years, when he might have to say, I have no pleasure in them, as quietly as the leaf falls when the season is ended."

How his heart, his social affections were engrossed in Freemasonry, his large record will show in the numerous offices he has sustained in the Order.

STEPHEN LOVELL.

H. P., 1846-47-48-49-53-54-55.

M. E. and Rev. Companion Lovell was born in Weymouth, Mass., April, 1799, and died in Boston, Sept. 29, 1858. He first learned the trade of carpenter, at which he wrought several years. During this time he availed himself of every leisure opportunity to acquire a knowledge of men and things, and devoted much time to the study of the Scriptures. He made a public profession of religion in early life, and soon became a preacher of the Methodist denomination. Subsequently he changed his religious views and sentiments, and became a Protestant Methodist. He was for several years an associate editor of "The Olive Branch," with Thomas F. Norris, published in Boston. For several years before his death he officiated as Chaplain of the House of Industry and Reformation, at South Boston. He was an animated, able, and effective preacher; and whatever cause he espoused, to it he lent his whole might. He was made a Mason in Amity Lodge, Camden, Me., in 1825, and received the Chapter degrees in Jerusalem Chapter, Hallowell, Me., in 1826. In 1827 he was Master of Temple Lodge, in Winthrop,

Me., and afterwards held the same office in St. Paul's Lodge, South Boston. He was admitted a member of St. Paul's Chapter, April 16, 1844 ; was elected Scribe, Dec. 16, 1845 ; and High Priest, Dec. 15, 1846, which office he held four successive years, and again in 1853–4–5. He was Grand High Priest of the Grand Chapter of Massachusetts in 1853–4–5 ; President of the Convention of High Priests four years ; District Deputy Grand Master of the First Masonic District in 1850–1 ; Presiding Officer in Boston Council of Royal and Select Masters from 1855 to 1859 ; Prelate of Boston Encampment in 1856, and Secretary thereof from the death of Sir Knight Calvin Whiting until his decease. He also held the office of Secretary of St. Paul's Chapter during the same time. The Boston Encampment and St. Paul's Chapter made him generous donations during his last sickness, and united with St. Paul's Lodge, South Boston, in the erection of a suitable monument at his grave, in Mount Auburn. He devoted much of his time to the rituals of the Masonic Institutions, and was very happy and pleasing in imparting this information to his Brethren and Companions, and perhaps to no other one are we indebted in so great a degree to the attempt, to say the least, of establishing uniformity in the work and lectures of Capitular Masonry. It was a matter in which he took great interest, and to which he devoted a large portion of his time during the last ten years of his life. Having carefully revised the work, he thus publicly alluded to it in an address delivered before the Grand Chapter, Sept. 12, 1854 : —

"Another thing that should be by no means overlooked is the Work and Lectures of the degrees. Here is our vitality; readiness, accuracy, and uniformity on this point are indispensable if we intend to secure efficiency and perpetuity. In pursuance to a vote passed in Grand Chapter, June, 1849, to attain such an end, and as a result thereof, a Convention was held in Boston, composed of Eminent Royal Arch Masons from the several New England States, including the General Grand High Priest, and spent four days carefully examining the question of uniformity, and deciding on what should constitute it. The result of their deliberations and decisions was fully laid before the General Grand Chapter at its session in Boston in September, 1850. By that Body it was given for revision and correction, if need be, to a large and able Committee selected from all parts of the United States. After much labor that Committee reported, and the whole subject was then carefully revised by the full Chapter and finally settled. It was then adopted by this Grand Chapter. No alteration was made at the next meeting of the General Grand Chapter in Lexington, Ky., in 1853, although two reports were made by a Committee on revision, both of which were laid on the table. This work has been introduced into at least nine States of the Union."

Again, in his valedictory to Grand Chapter, in 1856, he refers to the subject: "Although I labor under some embarrassment in saying what I wish, owing to my identity with that subject for the last six years especially; for were I to speak of myself as I should speak of another person thus situated, it would seem like egotism of the most fulsome kind.

"Being called upon, however, to exhibit the Work as now sanctioned by the General Grand Chapter before that Body at the last two sessions in Boston and in Kentucky, and having imparted it under the authority of the General Grand High Priest to persons or Chapters in behalf of at least nine of the States of the Union, I must be supposed to feel a deep interest, etc. Massachusetts should certainly take the lead, but New York appears to have done so. A resolution was adopted in her Grand Chapter to have every Chapter under its jurisdiction put in possession of the authorized work. M. E. Sewall T. Fiske, Grand Lecturer, had written instructions first to obtain from me a certificate that he had everything correct, and then to visit every Chapter in that State, and spend at least one week in imparting instruction." In 1856 Comp. Lovell was appointed Grand Lecturer of General Grand Chapter, and held the position until his decease.

CHARLES BATES.

H. P., 1850-1.

M. E. Companion Bates was born in Boston, Jan. 23, 1812, and died April 3, 1852. He was initiated into Masonry in Mount Lebanon Lodge, Boston, Nov. 29, 1841, and admitted to membership, April 25, 1842, was elected Senior Warden of that Lodge, Dec. 30, 1844, and acted as such one year; was elected Master, Dec. 30, 1846, which office he held four years. He received the Degrees in St. Paul's Chapter in 1843, and was admitted a member, Feb. 20, 1844, was elected Principal Sojourner, Dec. 21, 1847, Secretary, Dec 19, 1848, King, Dec. 18, 1849, High Priest, Dec.17, 1850–51, which office he held at the time of his death. He was appointed Grand Lecturer of the Grand R. A. Chapter of Massachusetts, Sept. 11, 1849, and for the years 1850–51; and held the office of Grand Captain of the Host in 1849, and at the time of his death. When he died he was also one of the Grand Lecturers of the Grand Lodge of Massachusetts, and Secretary of the Board of Directors of Masonic Apartments. He was a firm, devoted, zealous Brother and Companion, and discharged the duties devolving upon him, in the various stations which he filled, with ability and fidelity, and to the entire satisfaction of all interested. His amiable disposition and excellent character endeared him not only to the Fraternity, but also to a large circle of friends. St. Paul's Chapter and Mount Lebanon Lodge have erected a monument to his memory at Mount Auburn, as a testimonial of regard for his moral worth and Masonic virtues.

SAMUEL W. GLEASON.

H. P., 1852.

M. E. Samuel W. Gleason was born in Dorchester, July, 1800, and died in East Boston, March 3, 1878.

He removed to East Boston in 1846, and was by profession a ship-carver, having for many years his place of business on Commercial Street.

He was made a Mason in Mt. Lebanon Lodge in 1842, but took membership in Corner Stone Lodge, of Duxbury; subsequently he affiliated with Mt. Tabor Lodge, and was its Worshipful Master in 1849–50–51.

He was Exalted in St. Paul's Chapter, March 18, 1845, was elected King in 1850–1, and High Priest in 1852, and withdrew in 1854, for the purpose of aiding in the formation of St. John's Chapter, of which he was a Charter member. He was Knighted in Wm. Parkman Commandery, and for seventeen years was the efficient Tiler of the various Masonic Bodies meeting in East Boston.

FREDERICK A. PIERCE.

H. P., 1867–8.

M. E. Companion F. A. Pierce was born in West Windsor, Vt., in 1820, and died in Dorchester, Mass., March 7, 1880. He came to Boston in 1853, and followed the profession of bookkeeping in several mercantile houses. Relinquishing this for a time, he accepted the position of Tiler for the various Masonic Bodies meeting at the Temple; resigning this, he again took to his calling, in which he continued until his death.

He entered Masonry in Vermont Lodge, Windsor, Vt., in 1851, and was Exalted in Windsor Chapter, Hartland, Vt., in same year. On coming to Boston he affiliated with Revere Lodge, and took membership in this Chapter in 1856. Filling subordinate offices with care, he was elected King in 1860–61–65–66, and High Priest in 1867–8.

He was Knighted in De Molay Commandery, and for a time was its Recorder.

WILLIAM ELLISON.

H. P., 1875.

M. E. Companion Ellison was born in Philadelphia, Pa., Sept. 22, 1811, and passed on in Dorchester, Mass., Aug. 23, 1877. He came to this city with his parents at an early age, and afterwards engaged in manufacturing, and later in the leather business, but retired from active mercantile pursuits some twenty years previous to his decease. He was at one time somewhat interested in municipal affairs in the city of Roxbury, having been President of the Council in 1855, and a candidate for Mayor a year or two later.

Comp. Ellison was made a Mason in Columbian Lodge, May 21, 1846, and subsequently took membership in Mt. Lebanon Lodge, and held the office of Senior Warden for an unexpired term, but declined further promotion. He was Exalted in this Chapter, February, 1851, was Principal Sojourner in 1852. In December, 1852, he was elected Scribe, and in 1853 King, but absence from the State obliged him to decline serving. In 1862 he was again elected King, but did not serve his full term, he having become connected with the commissariat of the Army of the Potomac.

While in service he obtained from the Grand Lodge of the District of Columbia a Dispensation for an Army Lodge for the purpose of work in winter quarters. The "Lodge of the Union" was opened for the first time, Feb. 29, 1864, when Comp. Ellison was elected W. M. In 1875 he was elected High Priest of this Chapter.

He was Knighted in Boston Commandery, May 21,

1851, and in October, 1851, when he was admitted to membership, he was elected Junior Warden, and held the position six years. Was elected Eminent Commander in 1857, and presided with grace, ease, and remarkable ability for four years. He served the Grand Encampment of Massachusetts and Rhode Island as Deputy Grand Master during 1860–1, and as Grand Master in 1862. Inspector General of the 33°, he was Deputy for Massachusetts in same year.

Comp. Ellison was devoted to our Institution, a true friend and genial companion, conservative in his views, a ready debater and an eloquent speaker, and always ready to fill any position which might tend to advance the interest or add to the glory of our Order.

REV. SAMUEL BARRETT, D. D.

Rev. Companion Samuel Barrett was born in Royalston, Mass., Aug. 16, 1795, and died in Roxbury, Mass., June, 1866.

While he was quite young, his parents removed to Springfield, N. Y., and from there he was sent to Wilton, N. H., where he was fitted for college by Rev. Thomas Beede. After graduating, he studied divinity at the Theological School in Cambridge, from which he graduated in 1818. The class contained several of the associates of his professional life, among them Prof. Noyes and Rev. Dr. Farley, with the patriarch of the Swedenborgian fellowship, Rev. Dr. Worcester. After spending four years in the work of teaching and the transient supply of pulpits, he was ordained the first pastor of the Twelfth Congregational Church and Society of this city, Feb. 9, 1825. This society had been but recently gathered, and had called to its service the late Rev. Dr. Alexander Young, who had also been invited to succeed Mr. Greenwood in the New South Church. Comp. Barrett, who received the Honorary Degree of D. D. from Harvard in 1847, may be said to have covered, with his sole pastorate, extending into the year 1860, nearly the whole period of the existence of this society.

As a preacher, Dr. Barrett was regarded by his own people as having but few if any superiors in the effectiveness of his pulpit ministrations. He felt deeply the truth and the importance of the views which he presented. Good sense, moderation, substantial matter, and the simple desire for edification characterized his compositions. He spoke from a full mind, as he continued to be a diligent reader.

He was at one time a regular contributor to the columns of the Christian Register. He dealt some hard blows, but followed them with his mild looks and kind wishes, with the hope that they would injure only the errors, and not those who held them; for he was not a man of stern or severe spirit.

Comp. Barrett was made a Mason in Amicable Lodge, July 20, 1818, served the Grand Lodge as its Chaplain from 1827 to 1843 inclusive, and in December, 1835, delivered an address before that Body, on the character of St. John the Evangelist.

He was Exalted in this Chapter, Oct. 18, 1825, and was its Chaplain from 1826 to 1834.

WILLIAM PALFREY.

Companion William Palfrey, the son of William and Lydia (Cazneau) Palfrey, was born in School (now North Bennet) Street, Boston, Sept. 7, 1796. In June, 1798, his father removed from North Bennet Street to Fleet Street, where the son lived until 1828, when he went to live in a house of his own in Lynn Street. He commenced his education in September, 1803, according to his father's diary, "with Master Little to read, and Master Tileston to write."

In September, 1810, at the age of fourteen, he left school and entered as an apprentice the auction rooms of Thomas H. Jones & Co., on Kilby Street; soon after coming of age he was employed at the Boston Custom House as a clerk to his father, to whose position as a Naval Officer he succeeded on the death of his father, remaining there until removed by President Jackson. He held various political offices, and was chosen by the Whigs as a representative to the General Court. He was Assistant City Registrar from 1849 to 1854, and while in this office he, as a Justice of the Peace, married two hundred and seven couples.

He was commissioned by Gov. Eustis as an ensign in a military company known as the "Rifle Rangers," of which he became the captain in 1830. He was also a member of the "Soul of Soldiery," and an original member of the society known as the Republican Institution. He was one of the Deacons of the New North Church, and afterwards of the South Congregational Church.

Comp. Palfrey was a hard and faithful worker in all he undertook; he had a retentive memory, was a great reader and a devout worshipper of Boston, particularly "Old Boston." In his old age he delighted in reading and talking about the "Old North End," where he had lived for over fifty years. For over twenty years he lived on Commercial Street, next door to our late Companion, Robert Lash, who was a brother Deacon with him at the New North Church.

Companion Palfrey was made a Mason in Massachusetts Lodge, Sept. 25, 1819; was Secretary of the Lodge for many years as his father and grandfather had been before him, and at his death his membership had extended over fifty-nine years.

He was Exalted in St. Paul's Chapter, July 27, 1820, and was elected Secretary, December, 1820, serving one year. He died July 26, 1878, aged 81 years and 10 months.

"God hath sown
Sweet seeds within us — seeds of sympathy —
Whose buds are virtues such as bloom for heaven."

THOMAS PAYSON.

Companion Thomas Payson was born in Peterboro', N. H., in 1760, and died in that town, Aug. 20, 1844, aged eighty-four years. He graduated at Harvard College in 1784, and soon after came to reside in Boston. He was Usher in Franklin School under Comp. Bullard, several years, and succeeded him as its Master. He was admitted a member of St. John's Lodge, Boston, in 1819, and was its Secretary from 1822 to 1827 inclusive; was Exalted in St. Andrew's Chapter, and admitted a member of this Chapter, July 26, 1820; was a member of the Boston Council of Royal Masters, its presiding officer in 1820–21, and its Recorder in 1825–26–27. As an instructor of youth he had few superiors, and ever gave satisfaction to both parents and pupils. He was a sincere and devout Mason, a good Christian, and an honest man.

ASA BULLARD.

Companion Asa Bullard was born in Salem, N. H., and died in Boston in 1826. He graduated at Dartmouth College in 1793, and was Master of the Franklin School, in Boston, several years. He studied medicine, and was in the practice of his profession from 1805 until his decease. He was made a Mason in St. John's Lodge, Boston, in 1820, was admitted a member the same year, and was its Treasurer in 1822. He was District Deputy Grand Master of the First Masonic District in 1824. He received the degrees in St. Paul's Chapter in 1821, and became a member, Feb. 19, 1822. He took an active interest in the Masonic Institution, and was at all times ready and willing to give both his services and means for the relief of the worthy indigent Brother or Companion, his widow and orphan.

JOSEPH HALL.

Companion Joseph Hall was born in Methuen, Mass., June 26, 1793, and died in Boston, Dec. 31, 1859. In 1809 he went to Camden, Me., where he ever afterward, with brief exceptions, resided. In 1813 he was elected an officer in the Militia, and was rapidly promoted to the office of Colonel, by which title he was afterwards generally distinguished. During the war of 1812 he commanded a detachment of men; and the parapets upon Eaton's and Jacobs's Points were erected under his supervision. In 1816 he married Mary, daughter of Capt. Nathan Howe, of Shrewsbury, Mass., who, having borne him six children, died in 1825, leaving behind her the cherished remembrances which hallow the name of the faithful wife and good mother; he was again married, in 1827, to Eliza, daughter of William Parkman, Esq., of Camden, Me., by whom he had seven children: all of whom, with the exception of two by his first wife, survived him. After the formation of Waldo County, in 1827, he received the appointment of Sheriff, and in 1830 the appointment of Postmaster, at Camden. For some years Comp. Hall had largely mingled in the politics of his State, and the great energy and uncompromising traits of his character naturally indicated him as a leader fit for the Democracy of the Waldo District, and he was consequently elected, after a spirited canvass, the first Representative to Congress from that District. He was again elected to the same office in 1835. It would be unjust to the memory of Comp. Hall not to place upon this brief record of his life the fact that his course in Congress was fully approved by his constituents; and that the subsequent history of the country has borne witness to his wisdom, foresight, and sagacity. In 1838 he received the appointment of Measurer in the Boston

Custom House, which place he retained until 1846, when the office of Navy Agent for the Port of Boston was conferred upon him, without solicitation, by his personal friend and associate in Congress, President Polk; which responsible position he retained until 1849, after the election of President Taylor. In the fall of the same year he was the Democratic candidate for Mayor of Boston, receiving the entire vote of the party, a conclusive evidence of the high estimation attained by his residence in the metropolis of New England. In the intervening time between that period and 1857 he spent with his family in quiet retirement upon his farm in Camden, distinguished alike by the interest he ever felt for the place of his home and the graceful hospitalities and courtesies extended to his numerous friends. Upon the election of President Buchanan, he was again tendered the place of Weigher, Gauger, and Measurer in the Boston Custom House, which position he retained till removed from it by the hand of death.

He received the first three degrees in Amity Lodge, Camden, Me., and was afterwards Master of that Lodge; was Exalted in St. Paul's Chapter, June 15, 1847, admitted a member the following September, and was Treasurer of the Chapter in 1849. He was also a member of the Boston Encampment; and was a worthy and esteemed member of each branch of the Institution. Endowed by nature with great physical power, and possessing a vigorous and well-balanced intellect, he evinced an ability commensurate to all the stations which he was called to fill. His was a sound mind in a sound body. Hence all of his official acts, and particularly his course while a member of Congress, were marked by that good sense and judgment which never failed him upon the most trying occasions, and which he retained to the close of life. His private life was almost without reproach; and his reputation for honesty was proverbial. Hence, though rich in the possession of a good conscience, he was comparatively poor in worldly goods; and though his various official positions afforded him frequent opportunities of enriching himself, he left them all, content with only his hire, and the approving plaudit of "well done, good and faithful servant"; bequeathing to his children only the priceless legacy of a good example. With him it was "not all of life to live." He lived not for himself alone — the generous sympathy of his great heart embraced the world. His was the hand of charity, well accustomed to those kindly yet unobtrusive acts which bless the giver as well as the receiver, and which were only prescribed by his limited means. His last illness, brief and painful as it was, he bore with manly patience and heroic fortitude. Contented, unrepining and resigned, he bid a cheerful adieu to all the attachments of life, and calmly and trustingly prepared himself for his last repose, "like one who wraps the drapery of his couch about him, and lies down to pleasant dreams." He died like a man and a Christian, with an unwavering faith in the infinite goodness of Him who doeth all things well, to whose inscrutable will he reverently bowed, and to whose unfailing mercy he humbly and hopefully trusted. Thus has a good man gone.

JOSEPH EVELETH.

Companion Joseph Eveleth was born in Salem, Mass., in 1794, and died in Watertown, Mass., in 1856. He was engaged in mercantile pursuits in Boston for several years, and was always considered an upright and honest man in all his dealings and business transactions. Comp. Eveleth was made a Mason in St. John's Lodge, Boston, in 1817, and was admitted to membership the same year. He was Marshal of that Lodge in 1818–19, Junior Warden in 1820, and Master in 1823. He was Exalted in St. Paul's Chapter, Feb. 15, 1820, and admitted a member, Feb. 17, 1824; held the office of Captain of the Host in 1825, and that of Scribe in 1826–27. He had also received the Ineffable degrees, including the 32d. He was a member of the Common Council of the City of Boston from 1826 to 1831, inclusive; also a member of the House of Representatives in 1829–30–31–36–37–38–39–53; and Sheriff of the County of Suffolk fifteen years.

JACOB AMEE.

Companion Jacob Amee was born in Boston in 1780, and died there, Dec. 12, 1844. He learned the sail-makers' trade, serving his time with Tripp & Hale, in the old Ship Yard where Batterymarch Street now is; and carried on business for himself from 1805 until his death. He was a person of strict integrity, and enjoyed the confidence and esteem of a very large circle of friends and acquaintances. He was a member of the Common Council of the City of Boston in 1829–30–31–32–33. He received the first three degrees in Masonry in St. John's Lodge, Boston, in 1813, and was admitted a member thereof the same year; was Senior Deacon of that Lodge in 1817, Junior Warden in 1818, Senior Warden in 1820, and afterwards Treasurer for several years. He was Exalted in St. Paul's Chapter, March 16, 1819. On the 18th of May of the same year he presented the Chapter an elegant Chisel, Mallet, and Box, for which valuable present the following vote of thanks was passed: —

"Voted, That the thanks of the St. Paul's Chapter be presented to our worthy Companion Jacob Amee, for his valuable donation made to them this evening; that they view, with lively gratitude and satisfaction, this expression of his good-will and attachment to the Institution generally, and the interest especially manifested by it for the prosperity of this Chapter; that this vote be recorded, and a copy thereof transmitted him by the Secretary."

He received the Orders in Boston Encampment of Knights Templars in 1820, and was admitted a member the same year. He served as their Warder four years, and as Treasurer nineteen years; which office he held at the time of his death.

FERDINAND E. WHITE.

Companion Ferdinand E. White was born in the family mansion on Winter Street, Boston, Aug. 21, 1788. He was of the fifth generation in descent from Edward White, who emigrated from Cranbrook, England, to Dorchester, Mass., June 22, 1635. He was educated at the public grammar school, and received the Franklin medal in 1801. He was then apprenticed to Morrill & Baker, merchants, No. 47 State Street. In 1809 Mr. John Baker retired from the firm, and Mr. White was taken into partnership. About 1814 he left Mr. Morrill and became a member of the firm of Lock & Andrews, engaged in the same kind of business. Some indiscreet enterprises, and an unfortunate change in financial matters, caused a failure, and the partnership was dissolved. In 1820 he commenced as an Auctioneer and Commission Merchant, at 22 Long Wharf, and continued in that business the remainder of his life. In March, 1824, he had charge of that department of the Boston Courier relating to "Prices Current," which he held for twenty-eight years. He was married to Abby Stillman Clark, Dec. 2, 1813, by whom he had four children. She died Sept. 15, 1822, and he was married to Dorothy Hancock Gardner, Jan. 8, 1826, by whom he had eight children. In all his business relations he enjoyed the confidence of every person who knew him. His strict integrity, good judgment, and kind and amiable disposition caused him to be highly respected and esteemed by all who became acquainted with him.

He received the first three degrees in Masonry in St. John's Lodge, March 1, 1812, was Senior Deacon in 1817–18, Senior Warden in 1819, and Master from 1819 to 1822, 1826 to 1828, 1830 to 1831, 1846 to 1848, and was Deputy Grand Master of the Grand Lodge of Massachusetts in 1848. At the laying of the corner-stone of Bunker Hill Monument, June 17, 1825, he held the important and responsible position of Grand Marshal. He was Exalted in St. Paul's Chapter, Dec. 23, 1823, was admitted a member Feb. 17, 1824, and held the office of R. A. Capt. in 1825. He had received the Ineffable degrees, up to the 32d inclusive. He was an excellent presiding officer in the Lodge, and performed the duties of every station he was called to fill in the various branches of the Institution with accuracy and true dignity.

He was taken sick in November, 1852, and was released from his sufferings Jan. 4, 1853. His funeral was attended by a large number of his Masonic brethren, who deeply felt the loss they had sustained.

JACOB TODD.

Companion Jacob Todd was born in York, Me., Dec. 18, 1783, and died in Boston, Nov. 24, 1832. He served his apprenticeship at the baking business with Col. Woodward, at Portsmouth, N. H., and removed to Boston in 1809, establishing himself in the same business; possessing a thorough and practical knowledge of which, he soon had a patronage that insured him success. No man was more reliable or trustworthy, and he enjoyed the confidence and esteem of all who truly knew him. He was an active and useful member of the Massachusetts Charitable Mechanic Association; also for several years a member of the Standing Committee of Rev. Comp. Dean's Society in Boston, and one of his most devoted and attached friends. He was also a valuable member of the singing choir of said society. He was made a Mason in Massachusetts Lodge, Boston; was raised April 5, 1808, and admitted to membership in November of the same year. He was one of the Trustees of the Charity Fund of said Lodge several years, also its Junior Warden in 1815, and Senior Warden in 1816. He was Exalted in St. Paul's Chapter, April 5, 1819, and admitted a member in March, 1822. In 1829–30 he was a member of the Committee of Finance. He was ever ready and willing, until his health and strength failed him, to do what he could to promote the interest and advance the prosperity of St. Paul's Chapter.

JOHN (B.) ANDREWS.

Companion John (B.) Andrews was born in Snow-Hill Street, Boston, March 17, 1773, and died in Boston, Dec. 22, 1834. He was a sail-maker, and carried on business in Boston for many years. He enjoyed the entire confidence of the mercantile community in this vicinity, being strictly honest and just in all his dealings, and ever performing his business engagements with punctuality and promptness; never allowing his customers and patrons to be disappointed if within his power to prevent it. He was a valuable and useful member of the Massachusetts Charitable Mechanic Association, a good neighbor, generous and kind to the poor and afflicted, and ever ready with his counsel and his means to aid a worthy brother Mason, his widow or orphan, or any other deserving person needing relief or assistance. He was made a Mason in Massachusetts Lodge, receiving the third degree Jan. 22, 1805, and was admitted a member the following month; was one of the Trustees of the Charity Fund of that Lodge several years, held the office of Junior Warden in 1812, and was a member of the Lodge at the time of his death. He donated to that Lodge, each year, for more than twenty years, the sum of one dollar beyond his quarterly dues, for the purpose of increasing its Charity Fund. He was Exalted in St. Paul's Chapter, Jan. 18, 1822, and admitted a member, March 19 of the same year. He ever manifested a strong desire to advance and promote the prosperity of the Chapter; and its members felt that by his death they had been deprived of the services of one of their most valuable and highly esteemed members.

JOSEPH T. BUCKINGHAM.

Companion Joseph T. Buckingham was born in Windham, in the County of Windham, State of Connecticut, Dec. 21, 1779, and died in Cambridge, Mass., in 1860. His father died on the 17th of March, 1783, leaving him an orphan of a little more than three years of age. On the 11th of July, 1786, he was bound by the Selectmen of the town of Windham to one John Welch, a respectable farmer of the town, to live, till he should be sixteen years of age. He was possessed of a retentive memory and had a disposition for reading, and the privilege of indulging it, though the means were limited. The family was a religious one, and he was kindly and tenderly treated. In March, 1796, he went to Walpole, N. H., to learn the trade of a printer, in the office of David Carlisle, where he remained about six months, when he engaged in the office of Thomas Dickman, at Greenfield Mass., publisher of the Greenfield Gazette. He remained in this office till July 4, 1799, when he left and walked to Northampton, where he obtained employment in the printing offices of Andrew Wright and William Butler. He came to Boston in 1800, and obtained employment in the office of Manning & Loring, book printers. His first attempt to amuse, instruct, and edify the public was the publication of "The Polyanthos," the first number of which was issued at the beginning of the year 1806. It was published monthly, and twenty numbers were issued, when it was discontinued for want of patronage. In 1817 he commenced the publication of "The New England Galaxy and Masonic Magazine," Comp. Samuel L. Knapp at that time conducting the Masonic department. The paper was liberally supported, and during the time he continued to publish it (a period of about eleven years) a handsome pecuniary profit was realized therefrom. Comp. Buckingham received the first three degrees in Masonry in St. John's Lodge, Boston, in 1817, and was admitted a member of said Lodge, March 17, 1818; was Junior Deacon in 1819–20, Marshal in 1822, and Senior Warden in 1823. He was Exalted in St. Paul's Chapter, March 16, 1819, admitted a member Jan. 21, 1820, and held the office of Principal Sojourner in 1823–24. He took a deep and lively interest in the Chapter, and was constant in attendance at its meetings until his duties as editor of the Boston Daily Courier compelled him to give less of his time to the Masonic Institution. He was, however, ever ready to give his counsel and advice, and continued until his death a firm, faithful, and true Mason. He was President of the Massachusetts Charitable Mechanic Association three years; also a member of the Senate and House of Representatives of Massachusetts several years.

ELIAS HASKELL.

E. Companion Elias Haskell was born in Harvard, Worcester County, April 2, 1768. He came to Boston to reside in 1792, and was engaged in mercantile business in this city until he was seventy years of age. No one ever maintained a higher character as a fair, just, and honorable merchant in all his business transactions. Comp. Haskell was a member of the Common Council in this city in 1824-25. He was also a most devoted and zealous Mason. He was made a Mason in Massachusetts Lodge in 1806, and was admitted a member Sept. 29 of the same year. He was Treasurer of the Lodge eleven years. Comp. Haskell was Exalted in St. Paul's Chapter, April 5, 1819, and held the office of Treasurer twenty-one years, from 1825 to 1845 inclusive. This duty was performed by him gratuitously, except an exemption from quarterages; and no person ever performed a similar service with greater fidelity and promptness. He was Deputy Grand High Priest of the Grand Chapter in 1844–5, and Senior Grand Warden of the Grand Lodge of Massachusetts in 1833. He was also a Deacon of Rev. Dr. Lowell's Church for more than forty years, and by his life and conversation shew that he was a sincere Christian. He died in Boston, Sept. 8, 1857, aged 89 years, 5 months, and 6 days, beloved, respected, and regretted by all who truly knew him. His funeral was attended by a large number of his Masonic Brethren and Companions, and the Grand Chapter deputed a special committee to accompany his remains to their last resting-place at Mount Auburn.

CAPT. JOSIAH STURGIS.

Companion Josiah Sturgis was born in Boston in 1794, and his father was a well-known hat manufacturer in Ann Street. He entered the merchant service while quite a youth, and made voyages both around Cape Horn and the Cape of Good Hope to the Indies. After attaining his rank in the revenue service he commanded on the New Bedford station, and was afterwards transferred to Boston, where he was stationed for many years, in command of the revenue cutter "Hamilton," and was the most popular officer who had ever held command in this district. An excellent commander, a thoroughbred sailor, and a man respected in his calling as always ready to respond to its duties.

On the 26th of June, 1850, he attended a Masonic celebration in Burlington, Vt., taking part in the exercises, and bore upon his person the identical apron worn by Gen. Joseph Warren, and which is now in the Archives of the Grand Lodge. He had never before been out of the reach of the sniff of salt water. He had never been so far inland, and expressed his surprise and admiration of the mountains and the lake, the scenery and the country. He had for some time been in feeble health, and barely survived his journey back to Boston, but the fatal moment which he apprehended soon followed, for he died suddenly on board his vessel two days afterwards, June 28,1850. On hearing of his death, the Grand Lodge of Vermont, as a token of respect to his memory, clothed their jewels in mourning. Washington Lodge, No. 3, of Burlington, Vt., also passed resolutions of respect.

Comp. Sturgis was made a Mason in St. John's Lodge in 1839. Exalted in St. Paul's Chapter in 1840, and Knighted in Boston Commandery in 1841.

CALVIN WHITING.

Companion Calvin Whiting was born at Dedham, Mass., Oct. 8, 1794, and died in Boston, June 26, 1857. His father was Fisher Whiting, who died when this son was but two years old. He began the active business of life in Shrewsbury, in the County of Worcester, was Paying Teller in the Globe Bank, Boston, several years, Overseer of the Poor in Ward 9, from 1851 to 1855 inclusive, Secretary and Director of the Howard Benevolent Society ten years, and Agent of the Provident Society, of Boston, from 1855 to the time of his death; he was also Clerk of the Board of Directors of the House of Correction for several years. The duties of which places he performed with fidelity, ability, and sound discretion. He received the first three degrees of Masonry in Fredonia Lodge, Northboro', County of Worcester, in 1824; was admitted a member of St. John's Lodge, Boston, April 6, 1840; was Junior Warden of that Lodge in 1842, and Secretary from 1843 until his death. He was Exalted in St. Paul's Chapter, Oct. 6, 1843, and admitted a member the same month. The following December he was elected Secretary of the Chapter, which office he continued to hold until his decease. He received the Orders of Knighthood in Boston Encampment in 1844, and was chosen Recorder thereof the same year, which office he also continued to fill until his death. He was also for several years Recorder of the Grand Encampment of Massachusetts and Rhode Island. Comp. Whiting was admirably qualified to perform the duties of "Secretary" and "Recorder"; possessing a sound and discriminating judgment, he knew what transactions were proper and necessary to be placed on record, and the best manner of performing it. Fidelity, conciseness, neatness, accuracy, and an elegant handwriting characterize and are to be found in every record made by him in Masonic Institutions.

COL. NEWELL A. THOMPSON.

Companion Newell A. Thompson was born in Uxbridge, Mass. Dec. 20, 1808, and died in this city, April 10, 1874. He was educated in the public schools, partly in this State, and partly in New Hampshire. He was a boy and salesman in a store in Dover, N. H., from 1824 to 1828, and in 1829 came to Boston and studied law in the office of the late Judge Hurd, of whose estate he was for years a trustee. In 1837 he became assistant agent in Boston, with the late Comp. Francis J. Oliver, of the banking house of Morrison, Cryder & Co , of London, which position he held two years. In 1841 he commenced as Auctioneer and Commission Merchant, a business which he followed until his decease. He had, from time to time, business partners, the last of whom was our well-known, the late M. E. Comp. John McClellan, but his name for many years was widely known as the head of the firm, which, under his energetic lead, made its annual sales of real estate reach millions of dollars.

He was for eight years a member of the Common Council, and was Chief Marshal at the time of the dedication of the Franklin statue, performing that difficult duty with great skill.

His military career commenced in 1831, when he was a member of the Independent Corps of Cadets. He was commissioned by Gov. Armstrong, May 1, 1835, Ensign of the Boston City Guards; May 8, 1883, he became Adjutant of the Battalion of Light Infantry, receiving his commission from Gov. Everett; he was appointed Aide-de-Camp to Brig.-Gen. Winthrop, in August, 1838, and Brigade Major and Inspector in 1839; he was elected Lieutenant-Colonel of First Regiment of Light Infantry, First Brigade, First Division, in August, 1840, and, in 1841, was commissioned by Gov Davis as Brigade Major. On the 20th of March, 1843, he was commissioned by Gov. Morton, as Captain of the Boston City Guards, an office which he held for several years, and it was the military position in which he took the greatest pride. In April, 1860, he was appointed on the personal staff of Gov. Banks.

In the Ancient and Honorable Artillery Company he was twice Adjutant, once Lieutenant, and he commanded the corps in 1843.

In May, 1867, he was appointed by the Secretary of War as a member of the Board of Visitors to West Point.

Comp. Thompson was made a Mason in Columbian Lodge in 1845, and was a District Deputy Grand Master in Grand Lodge in 1864, and was one of the charter members of Revere Lodge. He was Exalted in St. Paul's Chapter in May, 1845, Knighted in Boston Commandery, and had attained the 33° in the A. and A. Rite. He had a wide circle of friends; he was hospitable and generous; kind to the poor, and ever ready to lend a helping hand in a good cause.

As looking for membership in the Celestial Lodge above, let us keep in mind the comforting words of St. Schutze, that "Death brings with him Spring in the rear, and blows over the ruins for a resurrection."

MAJOR-GEN. JOHN S. TYLER.

"Years following years, steal something every day;
At last they steal us from ourselves away."

Companion John Steele Tyler was born in Guilford, Vt., Sept. 29, 1796. His ancestry were identified with the early history of the Colony of Massachusetts Bay. His paternal grandfather, in the days of Gen. Bernard, was a member of the Provincial Council, and a firm supporter of colonial rights. Royal, the father, was born in Boston in 1756, was in the military service of the Revolution in 1776, removed to Brattleboro', Vt., in 1789, became Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of that State, where he died in 1826. The son inherited the fire, ambition, and patriotism of his ancestors, and they shaped and distinguished his whole life. At the age of fourteen he came to Boston; in 1816 he was a member of the Boston Light Infantry, and rose from the ranks to the office of Major-General of Massachusetts. In 1824 he commanded the military escort when Lafayette was received and welcomed by Boston. He was Commander of the Ancient and Honorable Artillery Company four years, an honor not enjoyed for that length of time by any other man, and was senior member of that Body at the time of his death. He at various times held many civil offices; his military knowledge and executive ability made his services desirable on public occasions, and especially in the arrangement of processions. He was Chief Marshal of the civic procession on the occasion of the "Railroad Jubilee" in 1851; he held the same post at the reception of Daniel Webster in 1852, also at the funeral obsequies of that distinguished statesman, and again when the statue of Webster, by Powers, in front of the State House, was dedicated. In 1853 he was elected a member of the Constitutional Convention, in 1859–60-62 member of the Common Council, in 1863–5–6 an alderman, then trustee of the Public Library, two years member of the General Court, four years Engineer of the Boston Fire Department, President of a Railroad Company, Medical College, Burns Club, and of the Society of the Sons of Vermont, and was the recipient of honorary degrees from the college of his native State.

In addition to this, he was ever prominent in support of the legitimate drama, which he dearly loved and properly appreciated. At one time he was associated as amateur manager of the Tremont Theatre, and also served as one of the directors of the Boston Theatre for many years.

Comp Tyler in early life became identified with the Institution of Freemasonry. He was made a Mason in St. John's Lodge in 1820, Exalted in St. Paul's Chapter in 1857, and Knighted in De Molay Commandery same year, affiliating in each Body. He never accepted office in the Institution, but he remained true and trusty to the great principles of the Order, and signed the memorable "Declaration of Freemasons" of 1831.

Comp. Tyler was genial and happy in disposition, always looking on the bright side of everything, and making the happiness of his family his constant care.

"The sweet remembrance of the just Shall flourish when he sleeps in dust."

He died Jan. 20, 1876, in his eightieth year, and the burial service of the Orders of Knighthood was rendered by De Molay Commandery at his funeral.

DR. JOHN STEVENS.

Companion John Stevens, M. D., eldest son of Alexander and Sally Stevens, was born in Plaistow, N. H.,

October, 1788. At the age of nineteen years he commenced the study of medicine under the tuition of Dr. Gove, of Goffstown, N. H., and after the usual time of three years spent in his office, he attended a course of medical lectures at Fairfield, Herkimer County, N. Y., was examined and licensed to practise. He began his professional career in Goffstown, in 1810, where he remained ten years. Jan. 17, 1820, he removed to Charlestown, Mass., where he continued the practice of his profession until 1840, when he moved to Boston. He was a Fellow of the Massachusetts Medical Society, and in his intercourse with his Fellows and patients he was affable, courteous, and trustworthy, seeking utility rather than wealth or renown. Liberal to a fault, he was ever ready to do a kindness, even at the expense of his pecuniary interests. After a life of seventy-four years, a practice of fifty, and for many of them as extensive as that of any physician in New England, he died poor. He was made a Mason in New Hampshire, probably at Amherst. Affiliating with King Solomon's Lodge, in Charlestown, he was elected W. M. in 1839–40–41. He was Exalted in St. Paul's Chapter, June, 1838, and Knighted in Boston Commandery in 1839. He died July 10, 1863.

JESSE P. PATTEE.

Companion Jesse P. Pattee was born in Warner, N. H., Aug. 12, 1804, and died there while on a visit, on his fifty-ninth birthday, Aug. 12, 1863. He lived in Warner, working on his father's farm, until twenty-two years of age, when he came to West Cambridge, Mass., which became his place of residence. He was employed, from 1826 to 1831, in that place, by Mr. William Cotting, a baker, at which latter period Comp. Pattee commenced the baking business on his own account, and continued it until 1858.

To him was the town of West Cambridge largely indebted for their horse railroad, and had it not been for his perseverance, energy, and decision of character, united with possession of the confidence of his fellow-townsmen, it is exceedingly doubtful whether this rail-road would have been constructed.

He was made a Mason in Hiram Lodge in 1844, and was elected Worshipful Master in 1853–54. He was one of the most active and devoted members of the Lodge, and was ready and willing at all times with his counsel, personal services, and his purse, to do and perform all in his power to promote and advance its best interests and highest prosperity. He was Junior Grand Warden of the Grand Lodge in 1860. Exalted in St. Paul's Chapter in December, 1854, he ever took a deep and lively interest in its welfare, and was constant in his attendance, and the services he rendered to it placed him among its most useful and valuable members. He received the Orders of Knighthood in Boston Commandery in January, 1855. In the A. and A. Rite he was advanced to the 32° in 1857. It can with perfect truthfulness be said of Comp. Pattee that he always performed the duties devolving upon him in the various offices which he was called upon by his Masonic brethren to fill in a prompt, correct, faithful, and satisfactory manner, and that by his kindness of heart and generosity of disposition he has left a worthy example for their imitation.

EDWARD ASA RAYMOND.

Since going to press, it has been ascertained that Comp. Raymond was initiated in Amicable Lodge, Cambridgeport, Jan. 15, 1816, which fact removes a portion of the doubt surrounding his early Masonic history.

In compiling the foregoing sketches the Secretary has done the best he could with the in many instances meagre material at his command, and would here acknowledge the valuable assistance rendered him by our Comp. Henry J. Parker, who has been and is devoting his leisure moments in gathering information respecting the members of our Lodges that existed prior to the Revolution, as well as of those who have been prominent in our Institution since that date.
